Sewer fee could be added to tax bills

Hancock Water-Sewer board initiative would only affect owners of undeveloped property

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
 Staff Writer
 If the Hancock County Water and Sewer Board get their way property owners who reside on their land will start getting some help from property owners who own undeveloped parcels in their neighborhoods. The district is proposing a yearly service fee to be levied on undeveloped parcels of land, not covered by homestead exemption, about 10,000 parcels in the district. The fee, a proposed $72 a year, will be collected to help pay for service improvements and other costs in the district. The improvements, sewer and water service, greatly boost the value of land parcels, said district director Eddie Renz, in a workshop with the Board Of Supervisors on Wednesday. As a result, the owners of the undeveloped land parcels should help with the costs of those improvements, he said. At present, owners of undeveloped parcels pay no service fees, leaving the burden

Broken tail light leads to meth lab

Deputies arrest Harrison man at Standard/Dedeaux after routine traffic stop

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
 Publisher Emeritus
 A Harrison County resident has been arrested and charged with possession of precursors used in the manufacture of crystal meth, Sheriff Steve Garber reports. "Around 4 a.m. Thursday, road Deputy Push Phillips observed a pickup at an intersection in the Standard/Dedeaux area with defective tail lights. The driver had no license and Deputy Sgt. Chris Ory and Deputy Clark Ladner came into assist," officers said. The vehicle's driver, 48, Michal Spiers, Big Creek Road, Harrison County, received several charges for traffic violations, in addition to being charged with possession of precursors for the manufacture of a controlled substance," Narcotics Division Chief Major Matt Karl said.

Diamondhead, Bayside fire squads receive more than $140K in grants

BY SHANNON JENKINS
 Staff Writer
 With over $540,000 in fire-fighter grants recently awarded to Mississippi, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has made $32,784 available to the Diamondhead Fire Department; and $113,400 to the Bayside Fire Department. Rodney Augzin, the department's assistant chief, said the money will be used to purchase bunker gear, which includes boots, gloves, helmets and coats. "Our gear was basically falling apart," he said. "This grant was badly needed."

The 55th Annual Harvest Dinner hosted by Women of Christ Episcopal Church

Christ Episcopal Church will hold its 55th annual Harvest Dinner on Thursday, November 20th at Virginia Hall, 912 South Beach, BSL. Church family and friends are invited to participate in this tradition which began in 1948.

For more than five decades, the Women of Christ Church have been preparing a traditional Thanksgiving dinner to raise money for their community and world wide mission outreach. The Harvest Dinner tradition began when Charles and Mary Breath, Jr. opened their home to the Women of Christ Church. Seven women prepared the traditional dinner. The menu remains just about the same today: turkey, ham, dressing, gravy, sweet potato casserole, spinach casserole, cranberry relish, salad rolls, dessert and beverage. A favorite is the homemade cranberry relish originally prepared by Effie McCulloch, and more recently by her daughter, Linda.

The dinner will be available for "take-outs" from 3-6 pm at the kitchen door. Indoor seating will be served in Virginia Hall from 5-8 pm. The tickets are $6 and may be purchased from a church member or at the door.

The dinner is a joint effort of the Women of Christ Church, some of whom are the next generation to participate, thus keeping up the tradition.

Please come and join us for a pre-Thanksgiving meal on Thursday, November 20th.

North Bay Elementary students are the recipients of free books from First Book

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Mabel Monti, a former North Bay Elementary assistant was watching Good Morning America one morning and saw first lady Laura Bush talking about the First Book Program. Mabel called Donna Miller, secretary at North Bay and told her about it.

Donna went online to find out more information about it and then passed it on to Jackie Wintruba, Intervention Strategist, and Frances Weiler, Principal. The proper forms were filled out and arrangements were made for the school to pick up 1,000 free books in New Orleans, LA on Thursday, November 13.

Imagine their surprise when they got there that they were getting 1,230 instead of the expected

1,000! That means that each child at school will receive 3 books through the year. The first distribution will be on Tuesday, November 25. This will be a "Christmas Thanksgiving" with Santa there to pass out the books and goodies from Wendy's provided by Mr. Scott Nicely.

First Book works through a network of volunteer Advisory Boards to award grants of new books. The volunteers that serve on these boards make grants of new books to existing programs in their community that are working to increase the reading ability of low-income children. Funding for these grants come from money that is raised locally by the board. To qualify for a grant a recipient group must meet the following criteria:

- Operate in an area served by a First Book Advisory Board.

- Incorporate literacy/reading as part of their program activities.

- Serve children and families from low-income households—typically 80% of the participants come from low-income households.

- Provide multiple book distributions to each child in the program, with a minimum distribution cycle of one new book every six to eight weeks.

- Support the child's ongoing education—outside of the school classroom setting.

Unfortunately, there is not a current Advisory Board in this area, but Elena Bush of First Book got in touch with Ms. Wintruba to get books for the school through the First Book National Book Bank.

This is a mechanism for publishing partners to donate large quantities of books and offer books to programs serving low-income children. You can go to <http://bookbank.firstbook.org/nbb/getnbbhome.asp> to add your program's name and contact information to the National Book Bank mailing list. Programs on the National Book Bank mailing list will be notified when a grant of this kind becomes available. All National Book Bank donations are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis and applying does not guarantee that your program will be awarded books.

Impressionists the topic of next Art Smarts

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Impressionists will be the topic at the Art Smarts program on Tuesday, November 18, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Seal Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. Art Smarts is a series of adventures in art history and appreciation, cosponsored by the Hancock County Library System and The Arts, Hancock County. This lecture will include art during impressionism and post-impressionism art. The library will provide a reading list of library materials relating to each lecture.

Instructor for the Art Smarts series is Sandra Bagley, a newcomer to Bay St. Louis. A native Tennessean, she received her BA in art history and theatre from David Lipscomb's University in Nashville. She has studied painting, drawing and art history at the Corcoran School of Art, Washington, D.C., the Trier Kunst Akademie, Trier, Germany, and the Student Art League, Alexandria, Virginia.

Bagley has worked at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., as an exhibition aide and a registered copyist. She has shown her work in local, national and international competitions. Moving around the country with her husband, Scott, has given Bagley the opportunity to show her work in different galleries, most recently in Los Angeles, California, at the Classic Art Forms.

Space for each class is limited to 50 participants, and advance registration is required. Persons interested in attending this session should contact Jamie Elston or Adrienne Bradley at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library at 467-5282.

Memorial planned for Webb Self

A memorial get together to remember Webb Self will be held Tuesday, November 18, beginning at 5 p.m. at Carole & Mary's Olde Towne Restaurant in Bay St. Louis. Light refreshments will be served.

Self, who was owner of Computer Bay, died Saturday, October 25, in Saucier. Interment was November 1 in Sweetwater Cemetery, Leakesville, Mississippi. He had served in the Army and was a former management consultant with Microsoft before moving to Mississippi and starting his own computer consulting company.

More information is available by calling 493-1728 or 332-0054.

Foul odor leads deputies to Standard drug bust

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
 Publisher Emeritus

Hancock County Narcotics Chief Major Matt Karl reports that two Hancock sheriff's deputies smelled a foul odor Wednesday night, which led to the arrest of a Saucier, MS. resident.

Karl said, "While Deputy Sgt. Chris Ory and Deputy Clark Ladner were on a routine patrol in the Standard/Dedeaux area, they passed a residence and smelled a strong odor. They contacted me and I told them to keep the residence under surveillance until we arrived."

"Before Agent Johnny Alison and I arrived, a vehicle with Kenneth Shows, 37, of Saucier, left the house. The deputies later stopped him for a traffic violation. Consent was received to search the vehicle and 14 grams of crystal meth, scales, etc., was found," Karl continued.

"Shows was originally charged with possession of a controlled substance with a bond set at $25,000. He was additionally charged on Friday with manufacture of a controlled substance. Raising his bond total to $50,000," according to Karl and Agent Clifton (Bubba) Malley.

The vehicle, a Ford Dually was seized and the crystal meth. We are preparing to seized the vehicle on a permanent basis, Karl said.

Agent Malley is the agent in charge of the case.

Karl did offer high praises for the alertness of Deputies Ory and Ladner.

Hwy. 603 switched tag traffic stop leads to 2 drug arrests

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
 Publisher Emeritus

Two Hancock County residents were arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance, following a traffic violation stop last week, according to Major Matt Karl, chief of the Sheriff's Narcotics Division.

Karl said, "Patricia D. Moore, 19, 5203 Gulf Drive, Bay St. Louis and Jerry D. Garth, 35, 801 Willow St., Waveland, were both charged with possession of a controlled substance following a traffic violation stop Wednesday night."

Bond was set at $20,000 each according to jail records, and in addition, Moore had a hold placed on her by the Mississippi Department of Probation.

"Deputy Tim Campbell stopped a vehicle at the intersection of Highways 603/43 for a switched tag violation. He received permission to search the vehicle and one-half ounce of powder cocaine and 6.3

grams of crystal meth was found," Karl stated.

Narcotics Division Agent Chris Russell is in charge of the case.

Used Cars Sold to Public, Some $49
Monday, November 17th, 2003
 Current market conditions create a remarkable buying opportunity.
 Monday Only!

Article by Bob Rose
 Picaune, Ms As part of a proposal to deplete their used car inventory, local automotive dealership, Hopkins Auto World located at 241 Frontage Rd, Picaune MS behind Super Wal-Mart plans to sell down over $3,000,000.00 in quality used cars this November 17th, 2003. Monday ONLY.

Some vehicles will be sold for huge dealer discounts off the NADA Retail Book Value on November 17th, Monday only. Some cars will be sold for $49. "Why price these vehicles so low?" According to Raymond Fields, General Mgr, "The used car market is flooded with excess inventory due to the 0% financing on new vehicles."

The Weakened Economy Means Savings
 "New car customers are trading vehicles at faster intervals, creating a surplus of quality used cars," Raymond continued. The bottom line is that used cars are at critically high inventory levels. Due to these conditions, we have no choice but to relinquish this inventory immediately."

For this event, Hopkins Auto World has agreed to offer these vehicles to the public at astonishing savings before some are shipped to auction. "The community has shown us great support and we're thankful. We would rather offer these vehicles to our customers at a greatly reduced price than sell them at auction. Even if we sell some cars for only $49!"

All types of vehicles will be available for this event, including cars, trucks, vans and sport utility vehicles from trade-ins, repos, lease returns, and program cars.

Authorized Inventory Reduction
 "Our inventory must be reduced immediately so customers can expect to buy at drastically reduced prices." Raymond stated.

Registration starts at 8:30 am
 Some cars that would sell for thousands will be sold for $49
 Some cars that would sell for thousands more will be sold for $1,995
 All used inventory will be cut drastically!!
 Monday ONLY

Starting at 10:00 am sharp, until CLOSE, $49, vehicles will be sold throughout the day on a first come, first-served basis. Only customers who are officially registered at the registration table are eligible for these vehicles. Please bring this newspaper clipping.

Registration for the $49 Price Cutter Sale will begin at 8:30 am. At that time, all vehicles will be opened so that the customers can inspect the vehicles. The dealers selling price is posted on the windshield of each vehicle. When the Price Cutter Sale officially begins at 10:00am, "The Price Cutter Manager" will cut the posted retail price on the windshield from $6,000.00 to $10,000.00 off on each vehicle. Some will be cut 50% from the dealer's selling price! Registered customers will then have the first opportunity to purchase that vehicle at the new reduced price.

Only one markdown will be taken. Some vehicles will be marked to $49.

No auction license is required to purchase these vehicles. This Price Cutter Sale is available to the public. Auto dealers and wholesalers must register to participate.

"We've simplified the process," said Raymond. "Select the vehicle you are interested in, and when the Price Cutter comes and cuts the price, the car is yours at the reduced price! Some at 50% off the dealer's selling price!"

Credit Requirements Reduced for this Event
 In addition, Hopkins Autoworld has over $8,000,000 in low interest rate money and special financing available for this one-night only event. "We can get you pre-qualified before the sale, regardless of your past credit situation," Raymond said. Our creditors say LET US FINANCE YOUR FUTURE, NOT YOUR PAST!!

"If you've been waiting for a great deal on a used vehicle, the time is now! This $49 Price Cutter Sale will be the perfect opportunity for a quality vehicle at incredible savings, while we drastically deplete our inventory."

The Price Cutter Sale event will be held at Hopkins Auto World located at 241 Frontage Rd, Picaune, MS located behind Super Wal-Mart. VEHICLES WILL BE SOLD FOR $49.00. For more info, call 800-826-6562, and ask for Raymond Fields.

Admiral Donaldson to serve as director at Stennis in January

It was good news to hear this week that Rear Admiral Thomas Q. Donaldson V. will be the new director of the John C. Stennis Space Center come January 5, 2004.

Admiral Donaldson will retire from the Navy prior to his new duties. He is a familiar face here, since he was Commander of the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command at Stennis before being selected as Hydrographer of the Navy.

America's space program I feel, will come back stronger than ever and it is great that someone like Admiral Donaldson will have a very important role as the director at Stennis Space Center.

Lots of things happen at Stennis and I am sure we will be hearing of greater things in the years to come, not only in space, but the many endeavors at the test site here in Hancock County.

I wish Admiral Donaldson the best in his new post.

I was saddened to hear one of my St. Stanislaus classmates passed onto greater glory on Wednesday.

Joseph (Joe) Kersanac, or as we knew him in school, 'Humphrey'.

Humphrey was just one of those special people, one who always had an upbeat attitude, no matter his problems.

The last time I spoke to Joe was a few weeks ago, while he was at physical therapy. He was going to Mobile, as it was a Grandparents day at a grandchild's school and he was going to be there.

Joe was well known in the community and liked by everyone.

Many years he had his battles with diabetes, but it never got him down, as he was always ready to help anyone and everyone.

To all of Joe's children, grandchildren and many friends, Joseph (Joe) 'Humphrey' Kersanac will long be remembered for the great person he was.

For sure, Joe, my friend, we will miss you.

"Humphrey was just one of those special people, one who always had an upbeat attitude, no matter his problems."

Greetings from Flyover Country

Middle America — which includes most of the South, Midwest and West — too often gets dismissed by liberal politicians and liberal interest groups who seem to look down on our values.

They refer to the area between the East and West coasts as "flyover country." The attacks on Judge Charles Pickering's conservative background and religious activity shows this acute divide.

Yet, Senators from "flyover country" are striking back, letting the left know that we are here, we are part of America and we expect more, especially better consideration of our judicial nominees.

The Senate just conducted an almost 40-hour marathon debate on what is a judicial crisis — a complete breakdown of the judicial confirmation process being purposely organized by a few liberal Senators. We want the extreme left to know that America's court system is for administering justice. It is not intended to be an alternative venue for implementing, through judges, their liberal ideas — proposals they have failed to gain popular support in the lawmaking, legislative branch of government.

process of extracting a late-term baby from the womb and killing it with surgical instruments. Congress and President Bush agree, and we passed a law to ban this procedure.

Yet, already what liberals couldn't successfully defend in Congress or the President Bush for a seat on the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals and following almost endless attacks on his character, including his active involvement in the Baptist church, liberal Democrats used parliamentary procedure to stop Mississippi's Judge Charles Pickering from getting a fair vote in the Senate and taking a seat on the Appeals Court. Judge Pickering's opponents played the race card first.

After that was discredited, they attacked his service to the Southern Baptist church, as if he were a member of some bizarre cult. They've started the same sleazy campaign to block other conservative judicial nominees, including a well-qualified African-American conservative judge and Alabama native, and another female conservative judge from Texas.

Each time a well-qualified nominee gets attacked on the basis of their faith or philosophy, it makes the rift between liberals and

Of course, examples of the left's hijacking of courts to do their political bidding are many. The numerous attacks on religious displays and the Pledge of Allegiance come to mind.

For the latest, look no further than the partial birth abortion ban which President Bush just signed. A huge majority of Americans oppose partial-birth abortion — the court of public opinion, they are trying to slide through our organized judicial system, launching court challenges to the ban before the ink was dry. This is why we need judges like Charles Pickering on the bench — a judge dedicated to enforcing your representative-made laws, instead of making them himself.

Message from Saudi Arabia

As a patriotic American working in a dangerous corner of the world, I am gratified by the support of my fellow Americans back home in trying to make conditions better for me and our fellow Americans here in the Middle East.

Many servicemen and women have come here, and some have died, fighting to ensure a peaceful future for this region and the entire world.

Their task, and that of our President, is far from an easy one. But I am gratified to observe the fervor and dedication they exhibit in carrying out their dangerous duties.

I realize that there will be times of difficulty in the struggle to make the Middle East a more peaceful place to live. But the long-term goal of a more peaceful world should be kept in mind during these difficult times.

I encourage all my fellow Americans back home to continue to give their full support to our far-sighted President and to the servicemen and women fighting in the

Bike race set Nov. 22 for Hope Haven

The Mississippi West Coast Challenge Bike Race and Rally is set for Saturday, Nov. 22.

The race is open to both adults and youth. The categories are Adults over 18 (men's and women's heats), Teens, freshmen to seniors (girls and boys heats) and middle school youths (girls and boys heats).

There will also be a bike decorating contest for all children 10 years and younger.

The race will be a "time trial, race against the clock" along a 2.3 mile stretch of the walking track that the County has graciously allowed the organizers to use. All riders will receive an event T-shirt, water bottle and participation ribbon.

The top three winners in each category will receive trophies.

Other prizes donated by local merchants will spice up the day. For the ten and unders, the bike "rally" will take place at the Washington Ave. Pier finish line at 11 a.m. with ribbons and prizes for all who enter.

The race, which is a fundraiser for Hope Haven Children's Shelter, kicks off at 8:00 at the Coleman Ave. Pier in Waveland.

As this is a fundraiser, participants are requested to make a donation to the shelter via a sponsorship with a suggested amount of $10 or more for youth riders and $20 or more for adult riders.

However, no rider will be turned away as long as they make a donation of some amount to help the kids at Hope Haven. Businesses and individuals who do not wish to ride may offer sponsorship monies or purchase advertising flags and banners for the event by contacting Jack Hyman at 467-2422.

Youth riders can get sponsorship forms and sign up sheets at their schools. Sponsorship forms and sign-up sheets are also available from the Hope Haven offices at 126 Court St., Bay St. Louis during normal working hours and riders can also sign up the morning of the event at the Coleman Avenue Pier. Volunteers are still needed to help with the event.

Volunteers may contact Colleen Abadie at 466-9366 and all volunteers are requested to meet at the Coleman Ave Pier at 9:00am unless otherwise instructed.

For more information call 467-2422 or 467-7945.

Go ahead. Treat yourself this holiday season.

HMS students receive awards in Lion's Club poster contest

Hancock Middle School eighth-grader Hank Breazeale (left), third place winner, and seventh-grader Kimberly Sawyer (right), first place winner, display their hand-made posters along with Dolores Tanner, Diamondhead Lions Club Representative. This year's Lions Club Peace Poster Contest, themed "Create a Brighter Tomorrow," drew numerous entries and allowed students, ages 11-13, to share their image of peace with others, so that all may have a greater tolerance and international understanding. Sawyer's first place entry will be forwarded to Lion District 30-N for the upcoming district competition. Posters submitted to the local Lions Club Peace Poster Contest can be seen on display at the Kiln library Nov. 16-21.

Middle America even wider.

My colleague Senator Zell Miller, a conservative Georgia Democrat, and even other veteran Democratic standard bearers like former New York City Mayor Ed Koch, have sounded a similar alarm: On numerous issues, an extreme-left wing in their party is alienating millions of Americans in heartland states.

Frankly, I'm not interested in the political party dynamic here or the fate of the Democratic Party. Party politics should always be secondary to what's important for our country.

For the good of our country and for our justice system, the practice of blocking good, qualified men and women from serving our nation must be stopped. I've made it clear to President Bush that it is imperative we find a way to end the dangerous, despicable filibustering of well-qualified federal judicial nominees.

President Bush is keeping Charles Pickering's name up for consideration.

Indeed, if given a straight up-or-down vote in the Senate today, Judge Pickering would be confirmed. Will liberals let Judge Pickering and other conservative nominees get fair consideration with a vote in the Senate?

We'll see. If not, the President and majority of Senators who support Judge Pickering have other procedural options we can exercise. Until then, to all you who think conservatives, and particularly conservative Middle American Christians, have no place in America's judicial system or legislative process, I send you greetings from "flyover country." Our paths will cross again. Because there are more folks in "flyover country" than you may think.

We have a few more judges you'll want to meet, too.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attn: Press Office)

My family and I would like to thank the voters of District 4 for your strong support and vote of confidence on Nov 4.

It is with great pride and dignity that I am afforded the opportunity to once again serve the people of Hancock County... and for that I say "Thank You."

Southern Miss announces plan to pursue teaching hospital on Coast

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Challenged by Congressman Gene Taylor to fill the health care needs of war veterans, The University of Southern Mississippi announced plans today it would seek a collaboration with the Gulfport VA hospital that would transform it into a teaching hospital.

Speaking at a Veterans Day ceremony in Gulfport, Taylor challenged Southern Miss President Dr. Shelby Thames to give back to a veteran community that has "sacrificed so much" for its country.

"There is talk of shutting down the Gulfport VA and running it at the Biloxi VA, and I don't like that one bit," said Taylor, who is a senior member of the House Armed Services Committee in the House of Representatives.

Turning to Dr. Thames, who was in attendance at the ceremony, Taylor continued: "I know Dr. Thames, and I know he never backs away from a challenge. That's why he has offered his expertise and the expertise of those at The University of Southern Mississippi to team up with the Veterans Administration to transform the VA Gulfport into a teaching hospital, which will care for the veterans of this country while training the next generation of health care professionals in south Mississippi."

Dr. Thames said Taylor asked him personally to look at the health care needs of the veterans of the Mississippi Gulf Coast and to "do whatever we could as a comprehensive university to see that those needs were met."

Veterans are currently having to wait for medical treatments because of a lack of available services, Dr. Thames said. With Southern Miss being on the Gulf Coast and having bachelor's through Ph.D. programs and facilities that stretch all the way from Stennis Space Center to Ocean Springs, it makes sense that our university should fill that health care void, he said.

"This is a tremendous

Taylor and Dr. Thames were on hand for a Veterans Day ceremony in Gulfport when the Congressman made the challenge.

facility here in Gulfport, a gorgeous facility that was a hospital and is still a hospital, so basically it's just a matter of amalgamating our programs together," Dr. Thames said. "And the cost of doing this in a cooperative fashion will be significantly less than if we attempted to start a health care facility for these veterans from scratch."

Dr. Thames said Southern Miss, which educates more nurses than any other school in the state and offers degrees through the Ph.D. level, already has nurses working with the VA hospital. "We have psychologists down here on staff, and some of their psychologists come to Hattiesburg and teach."

"We could do that in a much more extensive collaboration, save lots of money and become much more efficient and offer programs we do not now currently offer."

The next step in this process, Dr. Thames said, is for the university to talk with the constituents of the Gulf Coast patients, veterans, VA administrators, staff, business leaders, educators and to determine "what the real needs are and what it is they want Southern Miss to do."

"Since we've been issued this challenge, I think it's imperative that we take this seriously and make a strong effort to find out what those needs are, then go to our Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning and say, 'Here is the need, we want to fill it.'"

Edwin Cassell, chief of voluntary service at the Gulfport VA, said he thinks veterans and citizens of the Gulf Coast would welcome efforts by Southern Miss to turn the embattled hospital into a teaching facility.

"You could just tell by the reception today that a lot of people are excited about this," Cassell said.

Taylor said that the need for such a hospital is long overdue. More than one-third of the state's veterans live in the fourth congressional district, and the number will peak in about 12 years, he said. "For the foreseeable future, this is a challenge because the number of veterans we have will never be smaller than what we have now. It's here today, and it's going to be an even bigger challenge 10 years from now. We're always going to have veterans, from the Iraq war to future wars that must be taken care of," Taylor said.

Citing Southern Miss' success in building world-class polymer science and medical technologies programs, Taylor said it is just "the next logical step to develop a medical center using the buildings that are available in Gulfport and using the patients that are there needing to be seen."

As the demographics of an aging nation start to favor retirees over working-age populations, more health care professionals will be necessary to meet rising medical needs, Taylor said. "We have a lot of people who'll have great unmet needs unless we have more of these professionals, and so we're fulfilling that need. Once they graduate they can go out and serve patients in south Mississippi, so I see lots of good things coming from this."

Lakeshore Church gives free clothes

Lakeshore Baptist Church will be distributing free clothing Saturday, November 22. The no-strings-attached garment give-away is designed to meet the needs of the community. Jesus said that his followers would be involved in feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, comforting the sick, hosting strangers, and visiting those in prison (Matthew 25:31-46). "Often times Jesus' teachings are spiritualized," says Pastor Don Elbourne. "We are committed to proclaiming the truth that only Jesus Christ, the 'Bread of Life,' can satisfy the deepest hunger of the human heart. Christ alone is able to clothe a person in righteousness. Only Jesus can break someone free from their prison of sin and guilt." While the congregation remains committed to meeting eternal needs, they do not want to overlook the temporal needs of their community either. The church wants to be committed to both. "We hope that providing free clothing on November 22 will help meet one of those physical needs," the pastor said.

Lakeshore Baptist

Church is located at 6028 Lakeshore Road in Lakeshore MS. Clothing will be available in the fellowship hall building from 8:00-11:00 or until all the garments are distributed. For more information you can call the church at 469-0110 or visit their web site at lakeshorebaptist.net.

VFW Ladies Auxiliary and the Misfit Car Club will give coats to the deserving on Sunday, Nov. 16, at the VFW Post 208 3rd Street, Bay St. Louis from 3 p.m.

until all coats are given away. There will be coats, sweaters and jackets in all sizes.

of paying for the costs of improvements and district operation on homeowners.

District officials, faced with the possibility of raising user fees for sewer service to cover rising costs, asked the Water and Sewer District Board to come up with an alternative. If levied, the $72 fee would accrue for the first ten years as a credit for the property owner. When and if the land owner decides to build, said Renz, the collected fees for that ten years, $720, would go toward the installation fees to set up sewer service at the site. If the property remains undeveloped for longer than ten years the fee would still be imposed but no longer accrue value.

The best news for homeowners in the district is that the Water and Sewer Board is also proposing a $6 reduction in monthly service fees for current homeowners covered by the homestead exemption. The fee on undeveloped parcels would finance the reduction. The proposed reduction would lower monthly service fees from $35 to a proposed $29. No reduction of fees for commercial properties is proposed.

District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward said she agreed with the logic of the plan, but needed to see some figures from the district before she could give final approval. Coward asked Renz to present Supervisors with detailed figures on costs and also asked for a report on future plans. District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman asked Renz to present Supervisors with a line item by line item run-down on spending.

The Water and Sewer Board came to the Board of Supervisors specifically to ask that the fee be attached to property tax notices each January. The district does not need Supervisors approval to actually levy the fee, but Renz said they would like to have that approval anyway. They will need approval to attach the fee to the property tax notices.

Tax assessor Jimmy Ladner said he will go along with the decision of Supervisors, in regard to the collection of the service fees, but wanted to make it clear that his office would play no part in the collection of delinquent service fees. Delinquent service fees would also not be a factor in tax sales of properties with unpaid property taxes, Ladner said. Collection of delinquent service fees would have to be the sole responsibility of the Water and Sewer District, he said.

Another workshop is planned for Monday to iron out details of the plan. If Supervisors approve the plan, the $72 fee could appear on property tax notices scheduled to be sent out in January.

Meth -- bust

"As the road deputies proceeded with their investigation following the traffic stop, they discovered numerous items in the truck used in the manufacture of illegal drugs and I along with Agent Johnny Alison responded to the scene."

"Officers found starter fluid, table salt, camp fuel, denatured alcohol, gloves, a plastic bottle which contents are referred to as the starter in the manufacture of crystal meth, bottles, plastic tubing, etc.," Karl added. "We believe Spiers was enroute to a meth lab when he was stopped by Deputy Phillips. By the way, the road deputies need to be commended on the way they handled the situation."

Spiers' posted a $27,950 bond at the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility and his vehicle, a 1986 Ford 150 was seized, Karl said.

Lt. Ron Borja also assisted in the arrest with Agent Alison handling the drug case, Karl said.

Fire -- grant

Augzin said the department would also purchase lightweight air bottles.

The department now must put out bids for the equipment or buy it from the state contractor, which already has a list of vendors.

Augzin said he was thankful for Sens. Trent Lott and Thad Cochran and Rep. Gene Taylor for backing the grant program and for FEMA selecting the department for the grant.

"This money can be used to purchase equipment that will keep our firefighters safer, and in turn, allow them to better protect the public," Taylor said in a statement. "Firefighters work hard to protect our families and homes; they deserve all the support they can get."

According to a statement from FEMA, this was the twenty-second round of the 2003 Assistance to Firefighters Grant program, which will ultimately total approximately 7,000 awards worth $750 million in direct assistance to firefighters.

Well done, James.

Congratulations to Mr. James R. Ginn on being named 2003 Pearl River Community College Alumnus of the Year.

Your friends at Hancock Bank know how much you love Pearl River Community College, and we know how tirelessly you worked to raise money for the Chapel Campaign and provide educational opportunities for PRCC students.

We're all proud of you for this well-deserved honor bestowed on you by your Alma Mater.

Congratulations, James.

GIS (Global Institutions Systems) Day

The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast and the Mississippi Association of Spatial Technologists (MAST) are hosting the fifth annual worldwide GIS (Global Information Systems) Day Nov. 19.

GIS Day is an international grassroots event intended to promote geographic literacy in schools, communities and organizations and is a part of National Geographic Societies Geography Awareness Week and Geography Action Initiative.

The event takes place at the Advanced Education Center Auditorium, Gulf Park Campus on Nov. 19 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

On hand will be 10 individuals from Southern Miss, NASA, NOAA and Hancock County Port Authority to speak at the event.

All of these representatives are users of the GIS system. The speakers for the program will speak on how GIS systems are used in environmental management, law enforcement, remote sensing, transportation, oceanography, homeland security, economic development and educational resources.

For more information on GIS day, contact Jerry Coleman, Southern Miss

Gulf Coast geography instructor, at (228) 214-3335.

Although our orthopedic unit is new,
the structure for our practice has been around for centuries.

Just as it takes a skeleton to support the human body, a healthcare system needs the right professionals to support the practice of a medical specialty. At Garden Park Medical Center, orthopedic patients receive all the support they need to return to an optimal level of functioning, thanks to our new orthopedic unit. Our multi-disciplinary approach, with 12 orthopedic surgeons on staff, specially trained nurses, technologists and physical therapists, and our full-service radiology and surgery departments, emphasizes the connection between healing and having all the right resources at hand.

We rely on a joint effort to heal.

Ole Miss buys Oxford Walmart

AP & STAFF REPORT

The University of Mississippi Foundation has bought the former Walmart store in Oxford for $2.6 million.

Planning will begin to transform the cavernous 92,000-square-foot space into offices, classrooms and research areas.

"We have lacked sufficient space on campus for a long time," Johnny Williams, vice chancellor for administration and finance, said Monday. "We don't know exactly who's going out there. We will appoint a small group soon to make the plans and come up with ideas for how it will be used."

University administrators envision the space being used partly by researchers.

There are no plans yet for how the space will be divided, how much the renovation will cost or where those funds will come from, Williams said.

The purchase includes the existing building, parking lot and 7.7 acres of land. The site adjoins 5.7 wooded acres already owned by the university in the Country Club subdivision. There are no plans to develop the wooded area, Williams said. Locally, a large group of business and community leaders are attempting to have Pearl River Community College open an educational facility in Hancock County. One proposed site is the empty Walmart building on Highway 90 in Waveland. It is a centrally located, highly visible location with plenty of parking.

Hancock is part of the PRCC district, which is funded annually with many thousands of county tax dollars. Many Hancock students attend the Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College district because its facilities are closer and more readily accessible; Long Beach versus Poplarville.

Social Security offices to relocate

After nearly 21 years in their current location, the Gulfport Social Security Office will soon be moving to a new building located at 9394 Three Rivers Road on November 26th. The new office is located directly behind the Highway 49 Super Wal-Mart.

The Gulfport office serves Hancock, Harrison, Stone and Pearl River counties. The Social Security Administration also has offices located in Biloxi and Moss Point.

The office will begin moving on November 18, and continue until November 25. Limited service will be available to the public from the current Gulfport location through November 21, and at the new location beginning on the 24th.

The new location at 9394 Three Rivers Road will officially open to the public on Wednesday, November 26.

SSC's Lewis inks with Rebels

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Kyle Lewis, a senior at St. Stanislaus College, saw a portion of his dream come to fruition as he signed a National Letter of Intent with the University of Mississippi for cross country/track and field on Thursday, November 13. He becomes the first Rock thincad to sign with a Division I school since Chris Reisch signed with Ole Miss in 1990.

Lewis, fresh off an individual state title in Class 4A cross country, chose the Rebels over other suitors such as Mississippi State University, Mississippi College, Birmingham Southern, and Wabash College. While the other schools recruited the south Mississippi phenom, it was the lure of the Southeastern Conference and the opportunity to compete among the best in the country that won Lewis' heart.

Lewis stated, "One of the main draws for Ole Miss was their brand new facility. Apart from that, Ole Miss has demonstrated that they are very serious about developing their distance program on the team and have put in place the means for doing so. The Rebels recruited me very hard and their coaching staff is wonderful. I am very excited about the opportunity that has been given to me."

Over the years, Lewis has been a tremendous asset to the track and field and cross country teams at SSC. Following his seventh grade season, he was pulled up to the varsity team by head coach Steve Flannery and has flourished. In track, he won the bronze medal in the 2-mile run at the state meet as a sophomore. Last season as a junior, Lewis claimed the silver medal in the 2-mile and the bronze medal in the 1-mile run. This year, the season has been a highlight. Lewis lost his first race of the year at the Meet of Champions in Mobile. However, he ripped off seven consecutive wins culminating with the state individual title. And, now he has his sights set on the spring season.

SSC head coach Steve Flannery commented, "I am very proud of the cross

St. Stanislaus senior Kyle Lewis signs a letter of intent with the University of Mississippi for cross-country and track-and-field Thursday.

country season that Kyle has had. He has been a huge asset to the team in both cross country and track. Not only has he scored points for the team in the meets, he has helped build enthusiasm and esteem for the program. It is sad to see his high school career coming to a close because he has been such a blessing. However, he has such great potential. He has been on a very demanding training schedule and his work ethic is tremendous. It will be exciting to see him in the SEC. Ole Miss has emphasized their distance programs in recent years and Kyle will help bring them to the level they are striving to reach."

Lewis has set goals for himself in each of his seasons running for SSC. The goals are ones that are very demanding and require a strict training regimen. The state title in cross country was part of the goals that he has set for this year. Flannery stated that Lewis has some very ambitious goals but he is putting himself in position to achieve those marks with his work ethic.

Brother Ronald Hingle, principal of SSC, has seen Lewis achieve his goals not only on the track but in the classroom, as well. Hingle recalled, "Kyle Lewis is an outstanding young man and student athlete. His accomplishments on the track and the cross country course have brought great exposure to the program and the school. But, what really makes Kyle Lewis special is his work ethic and true humility. He is involved in a sport that gets very little recognition. It is not very glamorous. However, Kyle works very hard, especially in the off-season. He works hard when nobody is watching. It shows his character and determination to succeed."

From early on in his career, Flannery had no doubt that Lewis could make the jump to the Division I level. Flannery stated, "I always had confidence in his potential. Starting in the seventh grade, his natural ability was very evident. His work ethic has always been very strong. Kyle can become a tremendous competitor at the Division I level."

Kyle's parents are equally thrilled with his achievements. Kyle's mother, Lori, stated, "We are so very proud of him and excited for his opportunity. We met with the coaches from Ole Miss and from the start, we felt very comfortable around them. It is very evident that it is a family-type atmosphere with their program. It is very comparable to the type of program that SSC has. There were a number of schools recruiting him; however, Ole Miss was always there. He wants to run with the best and have a challenge. This is the program that will push him."

Lewis is already preparing himself for the spring season. Some members of the team ran some unofficial time trials in the 1-mile recently. Lewis, unofficially, broke the school record in the event and was only three seconds off the Class 4A state record.

Following his seventh grade season, he was pulled up to the varsity team by head coach Steve Flannery and has flourished. In track, he won the bronze medal in the 2-mile run at the state meet as a sophomore. Last season as a junior, Lewis claimed the silver medal in the 2-mile and the bronze medal in the 1-mile run. This year, the season has been a highlight. Lewis lost his first race of the year at the Meet of Champions in Mobile. However, he ripped off seven consecutive wins culminating with the state individual title. And, now he has his sights set on the spring season.

country season that Kyle has had. He has been a huge asset to the team in both cross country and track. Not only has he scored points for the team in the meets, he has helped build enthusiasm and esteem for the program. It is sad to see his high school career coming to a close because he has been such a blessing. However, he has such great potential. He has been on a very demanding training schedule and his work ethic is tremendous. It will be exciting to see him in the SEC. Ole Miss has emphasized their distance programs in recent years and Kyle will help bring them to the level they are striving to reach."

Lewis has set goals for himself in each of his seasons running for SSC. The goals are ones that are very demanding and require a strict training regimen. The state title in cross country was part of the goals that he has set for this year. Flannery stated that Lewis has some very ambitious goals but he is putting himself in position to achieve those marks with his work ethic.

Brother Ronald Hingle, principal of SSC, has seen Lewis achieve his goals not only on the track but in the classroom, as well. Hingle

recalled, "Kyle Lewis is an outstanding young man and student athlete. His accomplishments on the track and the cross country course have brought great exposure to the program and the school. But, what really makes Kyle Lewis special is his work ethic and true humility. He is involved in a sport that gets very little recognition. It is not very glamorous. However, Kyle works very hard, especially in the off-season. He works hard when nobody is watching. It shows his character and determination to succeed."

From early on in his career, Flannery had no doubt that Lewis could make the jump to the Division I level. Flannery stated, "I always had confidence in his potential. Starting in the seventh grade, his natural ability was very evident. His work ethic has always been very strong. Kyle can become a tremendous competitor at the Division I level."

Kyle's parents are equally thrilled with his achievements. Kyle's mother, Lori, stated, "We are so very proud of him and excited for his opportunity. We met with the coaches from Ole Miss and from the start, we felt very comfortable around them. It is very evident that it is a family-type atmosphere with their program. It is very comparable to the type of program that SSC has. There were a number of schools recruiting him; however, Ole Miss was always there. He wants to run with the best and have a challenge. This is the program that will push him."

Lewis is already preparing himself for the spring season. Some members of the team ran some unofficial time trials in the 1-mile recently. Lewis, unofficially, broke the school record in the event and was only three seconds off the Class 4A state record.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (3-0) basketball team, ranked #7 in the state, defeated the Moss Point Tigers 56-49 at the Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium on Thursday, November 13.

The Rocks were playing without three of their top seven players in the game.

Mario Faranda led all scorers with 29 points, 15 rebounds and four blocks. Rob Murray chipped in 10 points and 6 assists in the win.

The first period was nip and tuck the entire eight minutes and Moss point took a 11-9 advantage into the break between periods.

The Tigers took a 13-9 advantage with 6:54 left in the first half following two trips to the charity stripe.

The Rocks went on a 7-0 run, with Faranda scoring all seven points, to claim an 18-15 lead with 3:41 remaining in the half.

With 1:08 left, the Tigers owned a 21-18 lead following a 6-0 run of their own. However, Tony Silva drained a three-pointer for the Rocks with :54 left to tie the game at 21-21. The teams went into the intermission even.

The lead bounced back and forth during the entire third period until there was about :35 left. Rob Murray exploded for seven points during the half-minute span highlighted by a buzzer-beating half court trey which made the score 39-36 in favor of SSC.

The fourth period started with a technical foul on the Tigers for trying to begin the final period with six players on the court. Following the foul, the Rocks increased their lead to 42-36.

Faranda fired off five consecutive points with 4:01 left in the game to open SSC's lead to 49-42.

The Rocks went on a 7-3 run in the final :48 seconds to seal the win.

SSC head coach Jay

Ladner stated, "Over the years, our program has seen some very gutsy efforts. Tonight's game has to fit in that chapter. Moss Point is an outstanding team and has tremendous talent. We could have hung our heads playing without three of our top seven players; however, I am very proud of the way we responded to the challenge tonight."

In other action on the SSC campus Thursday night, the defending Class 4A state champion Rock soccer team battled to a 1-1 tie with the Biloxi Indians. Patrick Donahoe scored the lone goal for the Rocks.

SSC will be back in action at home on Friday, November 21, against the Gulfport Admirals.

The OLA Crescents' soccer team got two wins this past week to improve to 4-0 on the season.

On Tuesday, November 11, the Crescents defeated the visiting Lady Maroon Tide from Picayune 10-1.

Laura Ellis scored the hat trick for OLA and Rachel Cranford scored twice. Meghan Flynt, Jane Covington, Lauren Renz, Whitney Stewart, and Lindsay Benvenuti all scored one goal each.

Flynt and Covington each had two assists while Cranford and Nikki Harshbarger each tallied one assist.

The Crescents defeated the Lady Indians of Biloxi 2-0 on Friday, November 13. Flynt and Ellen Dauterive each scored for the Crescents.

Annie Giardino recorded the shutout in goal for OLA.

The Bay High Tigers swept the Picayune Maroon Tide on the basketball court on Tuesday, November 11.

In the boys game, the Tigers won by the score of 60-53. Marquez Singleton led Bay High with 24 points while Lorenzo Lewis and Joseph Sims each scored 10 points to round out the double-digit scorers for Bay High.

The Lady Tigers of Bay

High got into the win column with a victory over the Lady Maroon Tide on Tuesday. Scoring details of the game were not available at press time. The Lady Tigers evened their record at 1-1 on the season while the boys are 1-0.

The Hancock Hawks dropped their opener with the Gulfport Admirals 86-51 at the Bert Jenkins Gymnasium on Thursday, November 13.

Prep All-American Henry Salter led all scorers for Gulfport with 27 points and 10 rebounds.

Holiday Baseball Camp

The annual Bobby Halford Holiday Baseball Camp will be conducted December 29-31 on the William Carey College campus in Hattiesburg.

The session will concentrate primarily on pitching, catching and hitting, with emphasis on fundamentals and individualized instruction. Evaluation and recommendation of each player is part of the three-day session.

The hours are 9:00-3:00 p.m. on December 29-30, and 9:00-12:00 on December 31. Cost is $95, which includes noon meals and camp T-shirt.

Instructors include current Carey coaches and former Coach John Stephenson who has served as a New York Mets catching instructor, and minor league manager and coach for the past nine years. Stephenson is a former major league catcher and coach.

Halford was selected as 2003 NAIA Region 13 Coach of the Year. The Carey Crusaders were Conference Champions and Regional Runnersup this year.

For more information, call the baseball office, 601-318-6110, or the office of external relations, 601-318-6192, or write Bobby Halford Baseball Camp, William Carey College, 498 Tuscan Avenue, Hattiesburg, MS 39401, or email bhalford@wmcarey.edu.

NASA launches bold new recruiting project

THE SEA COAST ECHO

NASA recently created the Corporate Recruitment Initiative (CRI) to attract and maintain a work force that captures the full potential of this nation's diversity, and to address the national need for a new generation of people skilled in science, technology, engineering and mathematics. On Sept. 9, NASA began hosting a series of recruitment events, "NASA Awareness Days," on college and university campuses across the country to kick off the CRI.

Eight employees from NASA Stennis Space Center near Bay St. Louis will lead recruiting efforts at the University of Texas, El Paso, Nov. 16-18: Dorsie Jones, lead, human resources specialist; Dewey Herring, education officer; Jean Rhodes, equal opportunity officer; Ramona Travis, aerospace technologist, technical management; Patrick Scheuermann, deputy director, Center Operations Directorate; Freddie Douglas, lead, System Management Office; David Throckmorton, SSC assistant director; and Fernando Figueroa, aerospace technologist, Electronic Instrumentation Systems. They will be joined by Jim Gorman, Phillip Sakimoto and Mabel Matthews from NASA Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

The team also will visit New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, N.M., the American Indian Science and Engineering Society in Albuquerque, N.M., and will try to visit the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

NASA has outlined a five-year plan for the CRI, which is an integrated NASA-wide approach to human capital management, coordinated by NASA's Office of Education, Office of Human Resources and Office of Equal Opportunity Programs. The aim of the approach is to attract a work force that is not only diverse, but has the technical competencies that are needed to achieve sustained levels of high performance to accomplish NASA's challenging mission.

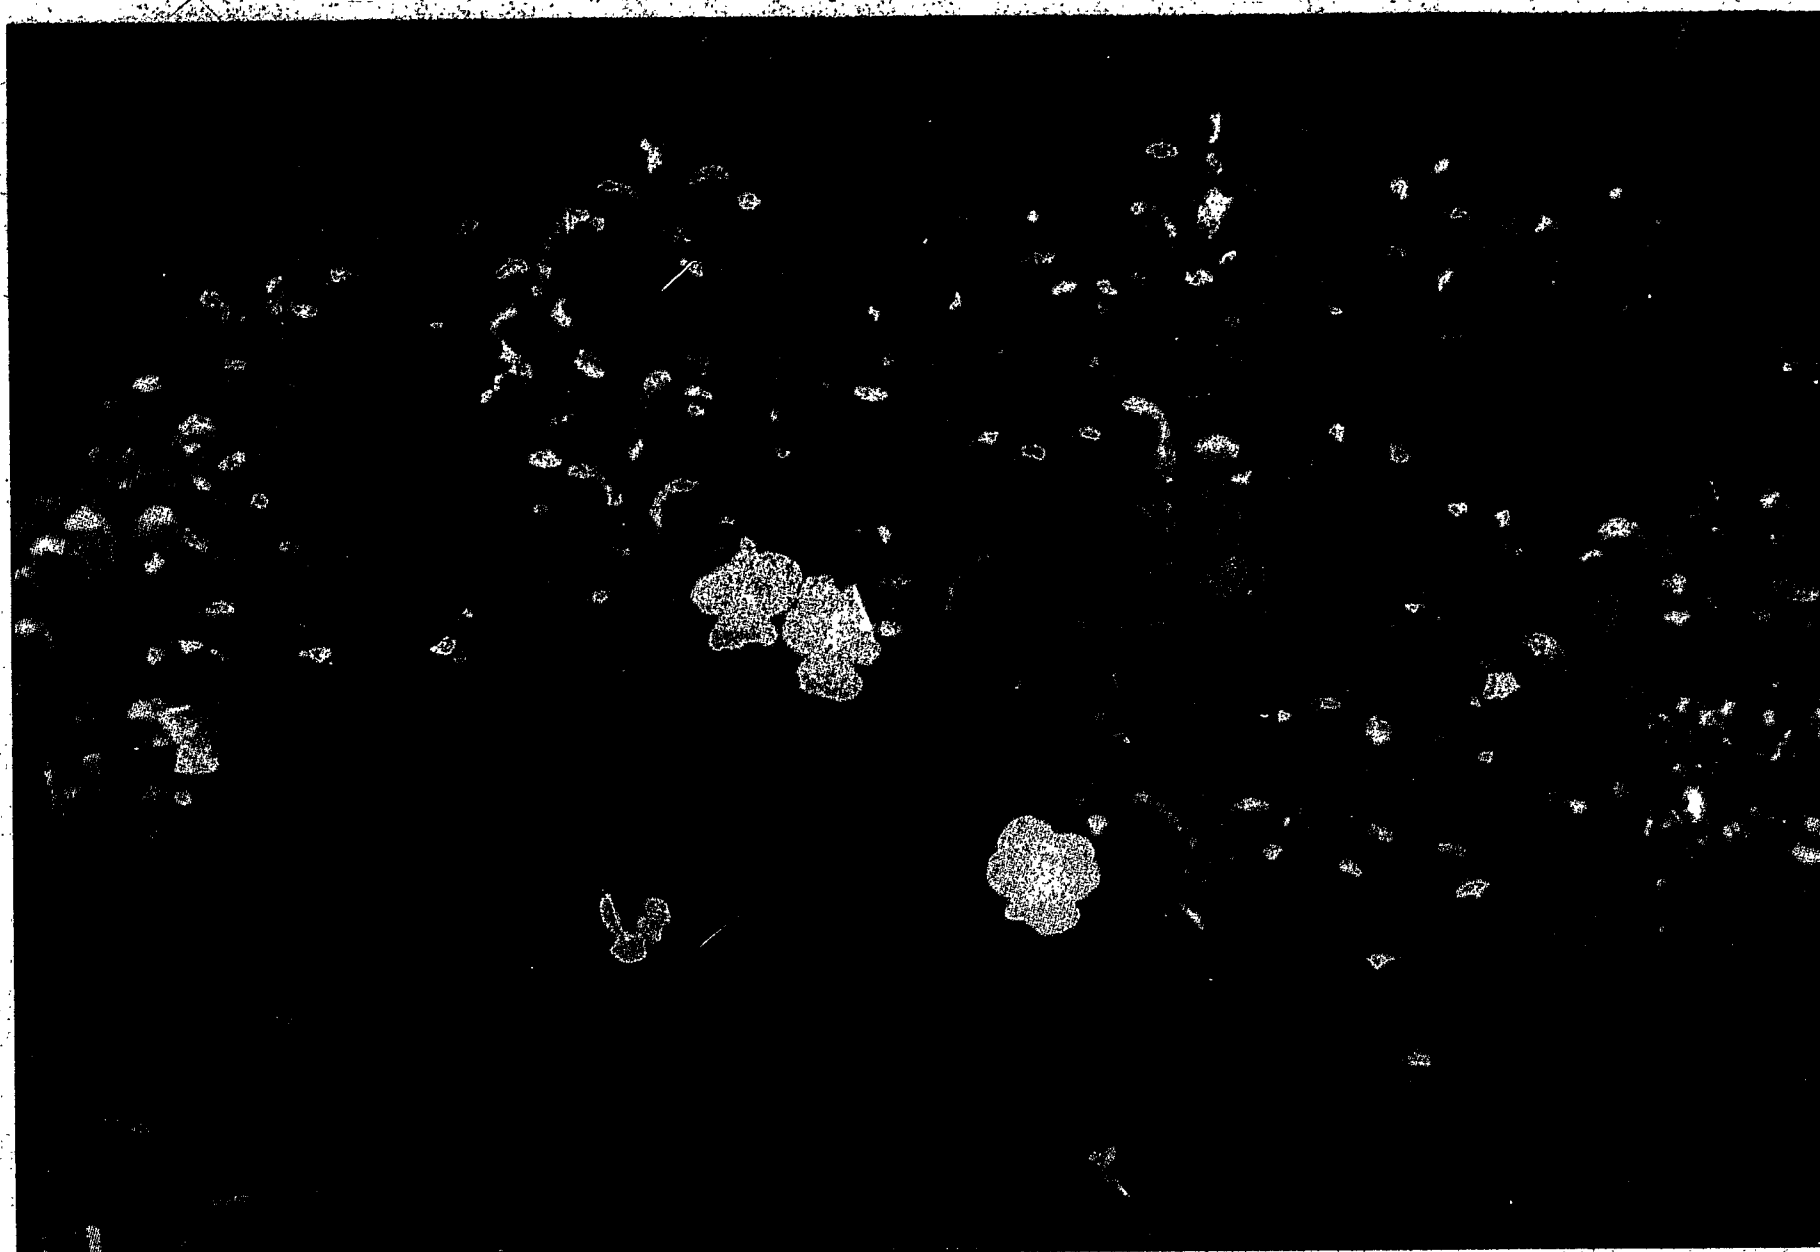

The CRI is designed to focus on high-demand competencies in need at NASA: Systems Engineering, Test Engineering, Mission Assurance, Human Factors, Nuclear Engineering, Integration Engineering, Design and Development Engineering, Quality Engineering and Assurance, Business Management and Mission Execution.

The CRI will also link NASA's many student, research and grant programs while leveraging its networks with minorities, women and individuals with disabilities to maximize workforce diversity.

The first flower to capture my eye as a child was the snapdragon. I am sure it was the stunning, vibrant colors coupled with the wonderful fragrance.

I recently have seen two of the best selections of snapdragons ever, one in Ocean Springs and one in Jackson. The snapdragon is one of our best cool-season flowers, and now is the time to get them planted.

Native to Europe and the Mediterranean, the snapdragon is known botanically as Antirrhinum majus. New breeding has made the

The 1814 British Invasion of the Mississippi Sound & the Gauld Map

"History is like an election. The lie that gets the most votes wins."

- Willy Murke, 1908

One of the interesting aspects of doing the four years of research for my book on the 1814 British invasion of the Mississippi Sound was that so little factual material is available. There was much anecdotal materials which often seem to have a glimmer of truth in them. However, these glimmers are dangerous in that they can lead you down paths that can prove embarrassing when later data shows them to be entirely in error.

I was amazed to find that even the data that seems to be the most reliable can be the most conical data to substantiate the details I have given in the book. These have uncovered some interesting results.

One of the misconceptions of what occurred during the British invasion is that the British had a very poor idea of the regional geography of coastal Mississippi.

This is shown to be to be completely in error by the British military correspondence and the details of their planning. The fact is that from the beginning the British showed an amazingly detailed knowledge of the Mississippi Sound, of Lake Bourne and even of Lake Ponchartrain. There does seem to a certain ambivalence in the written material as to whether they initially intended to attack New Orleans through lakes using the Rigolets or the shorter route via Bayou Bienvenue, but that is about all. It was obvious they knew the waters and the terrain and were pre-

Pennies for Pets

THE SEA COAST ECHO
 The Mississippi School of the Arts (MSA), Mississippi's public high school for visual and performing arts is interested in artistically and creatively talented students who wish to focus on arts education during their junior and senior years in high school. The Mississippi School of the Arts, located in Brookhaven, MS, is a residential high school that provides advanced programs of study in theatre, visual arts, and vocal music. MSA is a state supported, tuition-free public school for artistically and creatively talented eleventh and twelfth grade students from throughout

Mississippi. Students apply as sophomores to enter their Junior year. MSA welcomed its first class of juniors in August 2003. Deadline for application for the 2004-2005 school year is January 30, 2004. If you would like more information on this educational opportunity or an application, call the MSA Office of Admissions and Recruiting at (601) 823-1310 or Toll Free: 1-866-672-7871 or e-mail - admissions@mde.k12.ms.us

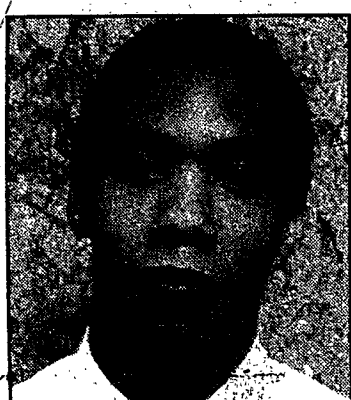

St. Stanislaus College senior Chris France named National Achievement Semifinalist

St. Stanislaus senior Chris France has been selected as a semifinalist in the National Achievement Scholarship Program, an academic competition for Black American high school students, according to Brother Ronald Hingle, SC, Principal.

Chris is the son of Mrs. Cynthia France Russell of Waveland, Mississippi, and is currently the public relations officer for the Key Club, a member of the Varsity Quiz Bowl Team and serves on the Student Ministry Team. He is a past member of the SSC yearbook staff, newspaper staff, and literary magazine.

Chris is one of 1,600 Semifinalists in the 40th annual National Achievement Scholarship Program who have the opportunity to compete for over 775 Achievement

Chris France

Scholarship awards, worth over $2.7 million dollars.

The National Achievement Program was initiated in 1964 to honor outstanding black youth and to increase their educational opportunities. "Since the program was founded, more than 24,500 academically talented participants have received Achievement Scholarship awards worth nearly $78 million," commented a spokesperson for National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), which conducts the program. NMSC is a private, not for profit organization that operates without government assistance.

More than 120,000 juniors from all parts of the U.S. entered the 2004 National Achievement Program by requesting consideration when they took the 2002 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT). Semifinalists were designated within geographic regions and are the highest scoring program entrants in the states that make up each region.

St. Stanislaus College is a Catholic residency and day school for young men in grades 6-12. The school fosters character formation and integrates faith development within a curriculum which is primarily college preparatory.

Charlie Carver, Peggy Bosma, and Greg Crapo of the de l'Epee Deaf Center recently visited with the students of St. Paul Catholic School in Pass Christian. The visit is part of the Outreach Program to help children understand deafness and to better accept deaf children when they meet them. Mr. Carver, a volunteer, spent the day visiting with individual classes telling them about his life, teaching a few signs, and answering questions. Ms. Bosma, the Interpreter Coordinator, helped students to communicate questions and translated stories and responses. Mr. Crapo is the Director of the de l'Epee Deaf Center in Gulfport, a program of the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi. Former Stanislaus student named recipient of Bishop Speyrer award

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The late Abbot Claude A. Martin Jr., of Esquipulas, Guatemala, has been selected as the second recipient of the Bishop Jude Speyrer Clergy Leadership Award.

The award is presented biennially by the Bishop Jude Speyrer Chapter of the Pontifical Knights of Pius, St. Gregory and St. Sylvester, according to Truman Stacey of Lake Charles, President of the Chapter.

The award will be presented to a representative of the Benedictine Order during the Chapter's celebration of the Season of the Nativity on December 17. The award is presented in recognition of outstanding Catholic leadership on the part of a member of the clergy, Stacey said.

Claude A. Martin Jr., was born on July 5, 1927, the son of Dr. Claude A. Martin Sr., and Ruth McLees Martin of Welsh, La. Dr. Martin was one of the outstanding physicians of Southwest Louisiana, a leading Catholic layman and a much-decorated soldier of World War I.

Claude Junior proved to be a youthful prodigy, teaching himself to read by the age of four and took up the violin as a hobby. When he was eight years old he appeared as a guest violinist with the Lake Charles Symphony Orchestra.

After completing his sophomore year at Welsh High School he asked his parents to allow him to transfer to St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis, Miss. After graduation in 1944 he entered St. Joseph Seminary in St. Benedict, La., to study for the priesthood. He then decided to enter the Benedictine Order, and was sent to Rome to study at the College of St. Anselm. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1954 and was assigned to duties in St. Joseph Abbey.

In the late 1950s Abbot David Melancon of St. Joseph Abbey received a request from the Archbishop of Guatemala for Benedictines to care for the needs of Catholics in Esquipulas in the state of Chiquimula.

The Guatemalan peoples had just overthrown their Communist government and were rebuilding the Church in their nation. The archbishop asked for priests to man the Basilica of Esquipulas, an architectural treasure which had been built in 1594.

Because of his ability to speak Spanish, Father Claude, who had taken the religious name of Matthew, was sent to assess the situation. After his report on the situation Abbot Melancon decided to send five monks from the Louisiana abbey to Guatemala to establish a foundation.

Father Matthew, who remained in Louisiana, was severely injured in an accident, and was incapacitated for six months.

Upon his recovery it was decided that he would go to Guatemala to reinforce the foundation because of his knowledge of languages. He was named the Prior of the Foundation.

A monastery was built, the basilica was renovated and became the site for a pilgrimage that numbered in the millions per year.

By 1982 the Foundation had progressed to the point that a full-fledged Abbey was established with Father Matthew as its first Abbot. It was the first Benedictine Abbey to be established in Central America in 1500 years.

A school was built, an orphanage, and a nursing home established, and a cooperative formed, which in time has become the largest in Central America.

Father Matthew recruited an Order of Nuns to care for the orphanage and another to staff the nursing home.

Abbot Matthew not only suffered from broken bones, but also developed cancer, and in 1987 a brain tumor developed. It was successfully removed in 1987, but after six years as Abbot and with failing health he decided to retire.

One of his pastimes in Guatemala was cross-breeding day lilies a hobby he continued until a few days of his death. He passed away in Guatemala City on March 3, 1991, with all of his brothers and sisters at his side. He was buried on the grounds of the abbey he founded, with thousands attending the funeral rites.

As a memorial to Abbot Matthew his family established the Abbot Matthew Martin OSB Library in Esquipulas, in which his 500 volumes on horticulture are included. The family continues to make contributions for additional books.

Abbot Matthew's brother, James P. Martin of Welsh, is a member of the Bishop Jude Speyrer Chapter as a Knight of St. Sylvester.

Bud vase collection on display at library

A bud vase collection owned by Barbara Hansen is now on display through the month of November at the Kiln Public Library.

Hansen has lived in Jourdan River Shores for the past 12 years and began collecting bud vases 28 years ago while on her honeymoon. The collection consists of more than 150 bud vases. For more, call the Kiln Library at 255-1724.

Views -- the Gauld Map

pared to use that knowledge to their advantage.

After all, much of southern Mississippi was ruled by Britain from the period 1763 to 1779 when they obtained it from the French by the treaty of 1763. They called the newly acquired possession "British West Florida."

The association of the term West Florida with the state of Florida established many years later to the east has confused Mississippi school children trying to learn their history for many years. The reality is that the whole region was called West Florida. To perpetuate the confusion, when the Spanish took it away from the British in 1779, they also called it West Florida and all accounts of Jackson's campaigns against the Indians, Spanish and English use the term "West Florida."

But to get back to the British invasion.

Besides the written word of the various British officers involved, there is a detailed British map of the Mississippi Sound that dates from that period when the area belonged to Britain! It stands to reason that after acquiring the new territory, the British would map it to learn what it was that they had acquired. And so they did.

Let me tell you about the map. I obtained much of my information from a good friend and scholar of the area and period, Ray L. Bellande of Pascagoula. More information can be found in John D. Ware, George Gauld, Surveyor and Cartographer of the Gulf Coast, University of Florida Presses, Gainesville and Tampa, 1982.

When I first asked Ray about the map, he sent me the following extract of an essay he had been preparing:

"Scottish cartographer and surveyor, George A. Gauld (1732-1782), in the employ of the British Admiralty and operating from HMS Sir Edward Hawke, made a map of Coastal Mississippi in June 1768. During his reconnaissance of the area, Gauld found that just opposite to Ship Island on the Mainland is situated Old Biloxi (present day Ocean Springs) on a small Bay of the same name, behind L'Isle au Chevreuil, or Buck Island (Deer Island). He discovered that only a few descendants of the original French settlers were still here. They existed by raising cattle and making pitch and tar, and were troubled by the Indians."

What was particularly interesting in my conversation with Ray was that he told me that an excellent copy of the final map is stored at the Jackson County Department of Archives on Krebs Avenue in Pascagoula. I went there and listened in amazement to Betty Rodgers recount her story about hearing about the map and finally purchasing the copy that is now in the Jackson County Archives.

With this, she pulled the large file containing the copy out and together, we spread the maps six separate panels on the floor. The panels had evidently been cut for convenience in copying from the master. The final assembled map measured six by four feet. The map had been copied from the original by what appeared to have been an old ammonia process similar to what had been used to make blueprints. The result was a very light blue background with the map details in a darker blue (unfortunately, so were the all the indistinguishable signs of use: Multiple folds, marks, tears, and holes).

But what a map it is! It details with amazing accuracy the depths and locations of shoals in the Lakes and the Sound. It shows the bays, the bayous, the offshore islands as they were in the eighteenth century. Today, it is an interesting relic that shows the changes that have taken place in the Sound and offshore islands.

But at the time of the British invasion it must have provided an excellent tool on which to plan their attack on New Orleans. But that's all it was, a tool. In the end it was the men that were involved that made the difference. The British were there and they knew what they wanted to. However, there were five small American Navy gunboats in the Sound waiting for them. Before the British invasion could continue, these had to be destroyed.

Garden -- snapdragons

snapdragon surprisingly tough -- it can be planted in zone 7 southward, and it blooms through May and into June. Newer varieties also perform well.

If you plant now, the snapdragon will be in the ground eight or nine months, so bed preparation will pay off. Select a site in full sun for best bloom production. Incorporate 3 to 4 inches of organic matter along with 2 pounds of a slow-release 12-6-6 fertilizer per 100 square feet of planting area.

Set transplants in the garden at the recommended spacing for your variety. This may mean some selections, like Rockets, should go toward the back of the border, and others, like the Montegos, up front. Apply a good layer of mulch to keep soil temperatures moderate and give added winter protection.

Deadhead snapdragons for a tidy appearance and to keep flowers producing. If unusually cold weather is forecasted, completely cover them with pine straw until the temperatures have moderated.

Pay attention to moisture levels during the winter. While soggy feet can be lethal, many cold fronts in the South dry out beds to a severe level. As growth becomes more active in late winter or early spring, side dress with a light application of fertilizer.

Snapdragons are ideal companions for pansies, violas, flowering cabbage and kale, as well as bulbs like daffodils. Don't forget to use in mixed containers. Your local garden center probably sells both mixes and flats of single colors.

Without a doubt, single-colored plantings will stop traffic. Try combining these with a pansy mix or with pansies that have blotches. Mixed snapdragon plantings are just as showy but are easier to combine with single-colored pansies without blotches.

You will probably be surprised by the variety of snapdragons available. The new series that looks the most outstanding is the Montego, which grows 8 to 12 inches tall. Other dwarf or miniature varieties of the same height are Floral Showers, Tahiti and Bells.

For intermediate selections, look for Crown (12 to 18 inches), Liberty Classic and Sonnet (both 24 to 30 inches). The old-fashioned, 3- to 4-foot Rocket is still one of the most prized in the landscape.

New trailing series Lampion, Chandelier and Luminaire offer additional heat tolerance by virtue of hybridization with A. hispanicum and A. molle from Spain.

Parents of Junior and Senior students: Sign-up now for the ACT

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Greater opportunities for financial aid and college admissions will be available if juniors and seniors in high school sign-up now to take the college/admissions test, the ACT.

By taking the ACT as a junior in high school, a student increases the possibility of improving the score if they wish to retake the test and therefore, increases the possibility of earning scholarships.

Scholarships are available at specific Mississippi public universities starting with a 21 on the ACT. Some scholarship application deadlines can be as early as February 15.

Commissioner of Higher Education, David Potter, commented on the ACT, "Mississippi students wait too long to take the ACT. The best time to take the ACT is the junior year in high school. By taking the test in the junior year, students have time to retake the test if necessary," said Commissioner Potter.

Students are urged to take the ACT in the junior year of high school and if a student is a senior planning to enroll in college in Fall 2004, students should take the ACT in December or February at the latest.

National ACT test dates and registration deadlines are as follows:

National Test Dates
December 13, 2003
February 7, 2004
Regular Registration Postmark Deadline
November 7, 2003
January 2, 2004
Late Registration Period
November 8 - November 20, 2003
January 3-January 16, 2004

Mississippi has some of the greatest access to the ACT as any of the states in the nation. More of the Mississippi population has taken the ACT than most of the other states. The percentage of students taking the ACT rose from 84 percent in 2002 to 88 percent in 2003. Seventy-seven percent of the Mississippi test-takers were high school seniors in 2003 and nationwide, 40 percent were seniors.

The ACT Assessment is a curriculum-based achievement examination that measures students on what they have learned in high school. Students' scores reflect the skills they possess in four academic areas measured by the ACT Assessment: English, reading, mathematics and science reasoning. Since ACT scores are used as an element of admission and financial decisions, students who wish to avoid being required to take developmental course work in college should complete the college preparatory curriculum in high school.

Information about ACT registration is available through the high school counselors' offices or at www.act.org. For scholarships, go to www.mississippiuniversities.com and click on financial aid and the IHL Scholarship Database in the lower right of the front page.

THE DEMON OF JEALOUSY
IN THE BIBLE, AS IN MODERN TIMES, JEALOUSY HAS BEEN A MOST DESTRUCTIVE FORCE. TAKE THE CASE OF SAUL, FIRST KING OF ISRAEL. SAUL HAD NO REASON TO BE JEALOUS OR WORRIED ABOUT HIS KINGDOM UNTIL HE DISCOVERED THE PROPHET SAMUEL. THE DISOBEDIENCE STEMMED FROM A VICTORY SAUL HAD SECURED OVER A PHILISTINE KING. SAMUEL HAD ORDERED HIM TO WAGE A WAR OF EXTERMINATION AGAINST THESE ENEMIES OF ISRAEL, INCLUDING THEIR KING. BUT SAUL SPARED THE KING. SAMUEL THEN TOLD SAUL (1 SAM. 15:11) THAT HE WAS REJECTED OF GOD. AND THEN THE TROUBLE STARTED! SAUL WENT INTO GREAT FITS OF MELANCHOLY AND DAVID WAS CALLED ON TO PLAY MUSIC UPON THE HARP TO SOOTHE HIM. BUT LO AND BEHOLD WHEN DAVID SLEW GOLIATH, AND BECAME A NATIONAL HERO, VICIOUS JEALOUSY TOOK POSSESSION OF HIM AND FROM THAT TIME ON HE WAS SUBJECT TO EVEN WORSE FITS OF DEPRESSION AND INSANE BEHAVIOR...UNTIL HIS DYING DAY!

What's your latest complaint?

Unlike her healthy twin, Danielle, Dominique Michelle "Moo-Moo" Lewis was born with severe physical and mental defects. By all odds, she should have been a very disturbed, unhappy child, at least much of the time. Au contraire, she was a very content, vibrant child virtually all the time.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

"Oh Happy Day," her favorite song, characterized the quality and degree of her habitual happy attitude and state of mind. "Sister Act II" was the other bookend of her life which completed the picture of her personality and presence as always being the "brightest star in the room."

Whenever "Sister Act II" was on, Dominique lit up the room by standing up in front of the TV and vigorously directing the choir at the appropriate times.

For all practical purposes, it was her choir as much as Whoopi's; so, she was in charge whenever the choir was ready to sing.

Every sight and sound, things which did not attract the notice of regular children, immediately seized her attention and drew her in great curiosity and wonder. She was led to explore each thing, to learn about it, and to enjoy it as a special treat of each day.

Well into the night of All Souls Day, as Dominique slept peacefully in her bed, she was ushered into heaven by the Master himself. With the same high level of peace and contentment at which she lived, she moved from whatever inconveniences she encountered in this life to eternal glory and joy in God.

Complaints? Dominique never had any. The only things which appeared to occupy her attention, thoughts, words and pursuit were the tiny, everyday ingredients of her family and the big world around her. They were ever fascinating, challenging and enjoyable.

Over the years, I have noticed more and more that the people most troubled by some physical and/or mental defects or handicaps are the least disturbed by the workaday, pedestrian trials which we all endure.

Rather, they seem to ride high above them and enjoy them. I have made it a point to observe the so-called challenged (handicapped) in the setting of restaurants and similar places. Sight unseen, or at least totally unexpected, the rule of thumb is that the unchallenged people seem to be the ones pensive, tentative, troubled, challenged by the vagaries of life.

The alleged challenged are the vibrant ones, the ones with the most smiles, the ones who, much more than anyone else in their group, are enjoying the ambience, the environment, the camaraderie and the whole adventure, not to mention the mouth-watering offerings of food and drink.

Ironically, in the pecking order of interesting subjects of people-watching, I find the supposedly physically and/or mentally challenged to be the very ones most worthy of watching, most interesting to watch. As for the allegedly unchallenged, they are generally just plain humdrum to watch. There is something special going on here. On the average, people born with all or most of their faculties of mind and body tend to find things, often nitpicking, to complain about. Some even make a career of it. One would think that having so many gifts is enough to celebrate every moment of life.

Contrariwise, those viewed as handicapped or challenged, though deprived in some or many ways, find cheer, enjoyment, fulfillment and cause for gratitude and thanksgiving in the relatively little they have. Of all people, they are the richest in the only place which counts: their own mind.

Here we can detect heavy traces of St. Thomas Aquinas, the great philosopher and theologian. His insight into defective humans, most of whom would be aborted if scanned in the womb, is priceless: "It is better to be born defective than not to have been born at all."

It goes much deeper than the mere raw appreciation of just having made it into this world, a onetime hit-or-miss happening in all eternity. It is even more the whole concept of salvation through the love of God who will change our defective, puny, mortal bodies into beautiful masterpieces.

No matter what the defects, deficiencies or liabilities of our condition in birth or in life, the transcendent love and power of God will make our life here on earth meaningful and fulfilling.

Then, at the time and place ordained in the master plan, God will raise us up to perfection, glory and life eternal.

The shame of this entire scenario and reality is that the people deemed to be unchallenged, normal or whatever are the most arrogant, the least happy, the least grateful, the least fulfilled, the most brimming with complaints.

Deep shame should settle upon us every time we look at God's happy children, the so-called challenged, the slow, the defective. While we like to characterize certain Hollywood types as the beautiful people, the moniker is far more apropos for the challenged folks who keep the world smiling.

The "Word" for the Week

Why suffering?

Domini J. Francis • Box 303 • Sterling, KS 67579

There is a lot of suffering in the world. It tugs at our heartstrings most when we see a young mother with cancer or a youngster with leukemia.

Then there are the problems of the elderly. Some old folks are abandoned in so called rest homes and just left there to die. Need we mention the wars, famine, persecution, and injustice in the world which all contribute to suffering. It makes you ask, "Why?" "Why all the suffering?"

Well, from God's perspective here are several reasons for suffering. God gives us one of those reasons in 2 Corinthians 1:3-4.

The Bible speaks of the "God of all comfort; who comforts us in all our affliction so that we may be able to comfort those who are in any affliction with the comfort with which we are comforted by God."

Here is a profound reason for your suffering. Out of it all you can learn about the comfort only God can give. Once you have really learned the lesson of God's comfort, you can direct others to that ultimate source of comfort. Jesus Christ is our chief example.

Jesus—Christ was perfected through sufferings (Hebrews 2:10). This was so "that He might become a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God" (Hebrews 2:17).

Now Jesus Christ is in heaven with the same body in which He suffered praying for you and me. Yes, God the "Father of mercies and the God of all comfort."

Turn to God, not just halfheartedly or with bitterness about your troubles; but turn to God and beg for His mercy. Ask Him for comfort!

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

There are four types of people who read this article.

First type, Those who enjoy reading about the things of God. Second type, Those who have been spiritually awakened; and or searching the scriptures, to learn more of things pertaining to the kingdom of God.

Third type, there are those who the Holy Spirit is wooing to help them realize their spiritual condition. They are usually not aware of what's happen by the spirit.

Fourth type, There are those who simply read through many articles with little interest in any. Fourth type person could likely be very shallow spiritually.

The almighty is not the top concern for them.

However, God's word does not return void. The fourth type reader will have the Holy Spirit deal with them. Before they close their eyes for the last time; The Holy Spirit will woo them; He will show them their need for a Savior.

Unfortunately, many will not take heed. Self-will still rules and governs.

It's hard to believe how people can turn down eternal life.

Enter by the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is easy, that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many.

For the gate is narrow and the way is hard, that leads to life, and those who find it are few. Matt. 7:13.

Best Pawn

Since 1994 Best Pawn and Jewelry had been located, next to the Post Office in Bay St. Louis. However, the business had outgrown it's former location and to better serve the needs of their valued customers, owners Phil & Terri Webb made the decision to move to their present location 1100A Highway 90, corner of Washington and Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis. Hundreds of pieces of merchandise are available on the huge sales floor. Jewelry, electronics, tools, sporting equipment & more are offered at incredible savings. If you need cash, don't worry! Best Pawn is ready to loan you money on anything of value with no credit check and no hassle. Best Pawn is the only Hancock County payment agent for Bell South. When you pay your phone bill at Best Pawn, you receive immediate credit on your account. Get your next money order at Best Pawn and pay no fee, just the actual amount of the money order. Spencer, the full time jeweler at Best Pawn, is available for all your jewelry repair.

Come visit us & take advantage of the great deals at Best Pawn. Now through the end of the year, take advantage of the fine jewelry liquidation sale. We're overstocked and no reasonable offer will be refused!

Best Pawn is open Mon. - Fri. from 8 - 6 & Sat. from 8 - 4. For more information visit their website at www.BestPawn.com or call 467-777

Bay resident publishes novel

THE SEA COAST ECHO

A novel by Mimi M. Heitzmann of Bay St. Louis was recently published by iUniverse, Inc., the leading provider of publishing technology solutions for authors, according to a statement released by the company last week.

Fantastic Stranger is a mainstream women's fictional novel about a middle-aged woman, Abby Henderson.

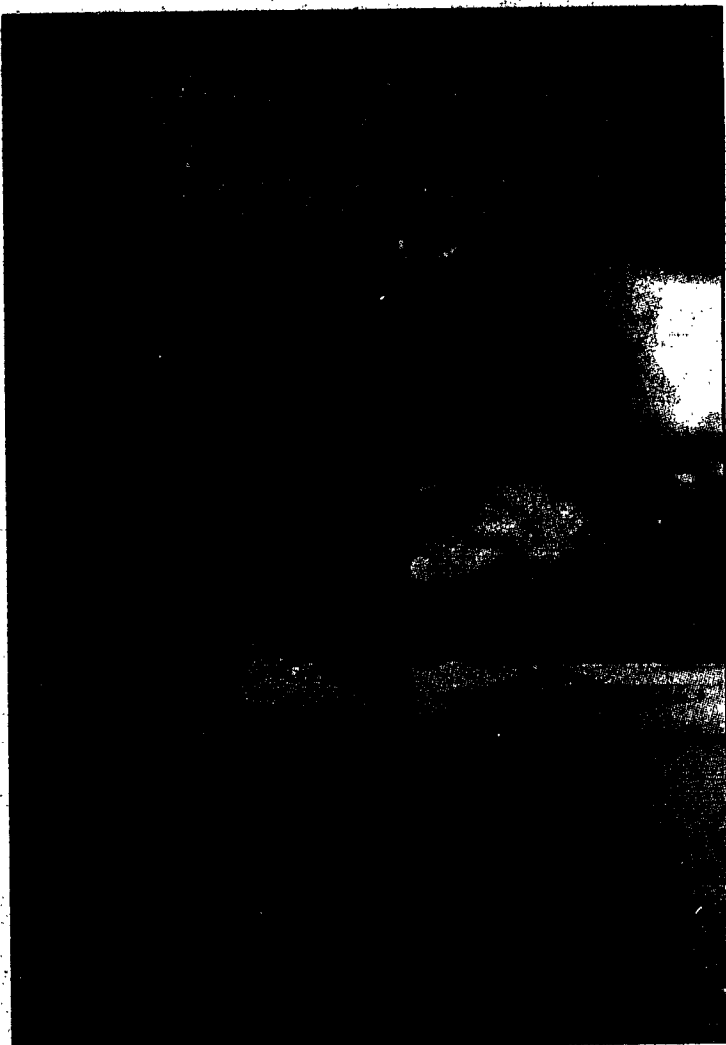

It is a mystery about a man and a woman and the famous musician who silently haunts their lives for over thirty years.

Their fates come full circle when the fantastic stranger makes an impromptu visit to the lovely and tranquil city near New Orleans on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Abby's quiet and uneventful lifestyle turns into a series of exciting developments as her estranged husband, Anselm Henderson, her rock star, Rick Clayton and her doctor friend, Robert Duveney, develop a new-found allure for the sassy woman of fifty.

A host of revelations about Abby's past, which include the possibility that Rick Clayton is the father of her twin sons, unfold to draw Abby's fantastic stranger back into her life on a more permanent basis.

Many other secrets are uncovered throughout the tale. Because all of the main characters, including Abby's best friend Charleen, have a hidden piece of the puzzle to her past, each chapter unveils an element of surprising detail to the very end.

Mimi Heitzmann was born and raised in the Deep South... "In a lovely little town called Bay St. Louis on the Mississippi Gulf Coast where the beaches reach for 26 miles along the Mississippi Sound and stretch along a scenic and picturesque roadway from Waveland to Ocean Springs.

Sharing her positive philosophy and humor about being middle-aged is the essence of her stories.

"Life is good at any age... Being over 50 can be the best if you just have the heart to make it so! Way down South in Mississippi... We have the Camellias. We are many shapes and colors, and as the Camellia... we bloom exquisitely in our autumn and winter. Tildemarie, 'My Inner Persuasion,' is definitely a flower who continues to bloom through her stories."

"Mimi's novels are light hearted fun loving tales about women who are approaching their forties, in their fifties and beyond who find that they are not getting older... because they are and will forever be... young-at-heart! Constantly encountering new and unusual experiences, they have been touched with tragedy, sadness and turmoil as well as joy, peace and tranquility.

Although they face all these things and more, they keep their spirit and enthusiasm for life. Not only do they survive the trials and tribulations of their life experiences, but they become better women showing, many times the stamina of today's middle aged woman. Her stories are chiefly staged in the Deep South. The Mississippi Gulf Coast and southern Louisiana are her usual focal points. Yet, Mimi's characters take adventures and travel encompassing and experiencing many new places and people in their journeys through life.

Says Mimi... "I've been writing for five years... have written five contemporary fictional, women's stories to date and many, many short stories. Fantastic Stranger is my first published novel."

Fantastic Stranger is available in the U.S., Canada and the UK through iUniverse.com's online bookstore, or locally at Bookends Bookstore in Bay St. Louis, Ms. for $14.95. ISBN # 0-595-29467-7.

Bay Artists Co-op open house and studio sale set Nov. 22

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Bay Artists Co-op is holding its 9th annual Open House and Studio Sale this coming Saturday, November 22nd from 10am to 5pm and Sunday, November 23rd from 11am to 4pm. This little event is one of the gems of the pre-Christmas season.

In the past there has been belly dancing, flaming raku firings and felt making demonstrations. This year the metalsmith will be beating on brass, the potters will have their hands in clay, the stained glass guy will be cutting glass and Billy Ray Hammons will be strumming his guitar and singing Van Morrison style ballads and blues.

The studio presents a new member, Ann Kearney. She will feature her fine art canvases and with her painting partner Denise Breland, will have hand painted pillows, floor cloths, bags and quilts. Mark Buszkiewicz, Regan G. Carney, Christine Johnson, Lucas, Kathy McKeague and Dale Simmons all work in clay. They represent a wide range of talents and techniques.

Christine with her smoke fired decorative boxes and bowls, Dale with both high-fired functional ware and Raku lamps, Mark with his amazing "stretched" vessels, and Regan with her bewildering array of fine colorful functional pottery, "botanical platters" and sculpture.

AJ Reed will be showing off his original stained glass designs. Pam Simmons will have her original "red ground" pastel and acrylic landscapes on display. Tracey Johnson (not a member, but helping her mother, Chris) will put out her hand-made beaded jewelry.

And last, but with the biggest and most interesting studio, Bob Tomson, the metalsmith.

His work ranges from down right hysterical to beautifully elegant "natural metals" fountains representing local flora (there is one in Bay City Grill). He will also show new wall pieces, garden and Christmas ornaments and possibly some mobiles.

All of the members of the Co-op are showing and active in this area and some in the world at large, several are Mississippi Craftsmen Guild members and lots of awards are scattered amongst them. This is a very original group of people who produce high quality craft and art. They also put on a really interesting Open House.

The Bay Artists Co-op is located at 415 S. Nacaise Ave. Bay St. Louis, MS. It is across the street from the St. Stanislaus football field and directly across the RR tracks from the train depot. The phone number is (228) 467-0073.

Adrienne Barbeau

Checking in With Adrienne Barbeau

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Adrienne Barbeau doesn't mince words when it comes to "Carnivale," HBO's eerie Sunday drama in which she plays Ruthie, a carny snake dancer.

"This is the best job I've had since 'Maude,'" the actress says. "I hope we keep doing it until we get ready to retire."

Her enthusiasm isn't diminished by the fact that she has to get up close and personal with live serpents in some scenes, an element that makes other members of her family squeamish.

"They say, 'You have to tell us when the snakes are coming up,' but it just doesn't bother me," Barbeau says. "I found a woman near here who actually teaches snake dancing in her home."

While she is well-known for tough action roles in movies such as "Escape From New York," in person the actress is much warmer and self-deprecating.

"I know this sounds like a cliché, but Adrienne is truly one of the kindest people I've ever met," "Carnivale" co-star Nick Stahl says. "She showed up one day with homemade cookies for the (crew). She's almost like a mother to the company."

Barbeau landed her "Maude" role as Bea Arthur's daughter, Carol, after she scored a Broadway sensation as tough girl Rizzo in "Grease."

"I never watched TV, so I had no idea I was part of a landmark comedy series," she says. "I just had nothing to compare it to."

She good-naturedly embraces some of the B-movie on her resume, including "Cannibal Women in the Avocado Jungle of Death."

"Actually, I thought that movie was hilarious, but sometimes you take jobs because your basement is flooded," Barbeau laughs.

Birthdate: June 11, 1945.

Birthplace: Sacramento, Calif.

Family matters: Twin sons William and Walker with husband Billy Van Zandt; older son, Cody, from marriage to director John Carpenter.

Too old? Hal: "(I was) the only woman in the maternity ward who was a member of AARP," Barbeau says of giving birth to her twins at age 51.

On her sex-bomb image: "It's very odd that people see me that way, because very few of my roles have emphasized that aspect. I guess I just find it funny."

Beauty tips: "I don't have a real regimen, but I do come from good stock. Mainly, I think it helps that I have almost no stress in my life."

Featured John Ritter's show goes on

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

The "Rules" on John Ritter's former sitcom may be simple, but the current emotions on the set are not. ABC's "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter" has resumed on Tuesday nights without the star it was built around. The show's second season began in September following the sudden death of the much-beloved Ritter.

This month's episodes feature television icon James Garner as the father of the newly widowed Cate Hennessy, played by Katey Sagal. Veteran actress Suzanne Pleshette also is appearing in some of the stories as Cate's maritally estranged mother.

"We had never really talked about Paul's (Ritter's character) or Cate's parents," Sagal says, "but this casting makes me understand why Cate married Paul, based on who her parents are. That's kind of what we all do."

Pleshette had visited the "8 Simple Rules" set last season when her husband, Tom Poston ("Newhart"), was a guest star. "I had never met James Garner," Sagal reports, "but when I heard that he was going to do this, I just went, 'Wow!' I don't know who planted the idea, but it was so right."

For the "8 Simple Rules" co-stars who play Sagal's children - Kaley Cuoco, Amy Davidson and Martin Spanjers - Ritter's passing is one of their first significant losses. "I think there's a natural sense of responsibility that comes with having been someplace that someone else hasn't," Sagal says of emotionally supporting the younger cast members.

"This is a very loving group of people, and I've felt really taken care of myself. John just raised the bar of who people are. He was kind and thoughtful to everybody."

Katey Sagal

Katey Sagal's perspective on life changed after John Ritter's unexpected death. The co-star of ABC's "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter," returning Tuesday, Nov. 18, says, "This has affected me in a huge way. So I was

Latifah rules over the Vibe Awards on UPN

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

It's basic protocol: You don't argue with a queen.

Therefore, if Queen Latifah wants to follow her "Chicago" Oscar nomination by co-producing and co-hosting a celebration of urban music, who's to complain?

Certainly not UPN executives, who are teaming with the singer-actress on the inaugural "Vibe Awards: Beats, Style, Flavor," airing on Friday, Nov. 21 - the night after the event is staged and taped at the Santa Monica (Calif.) Civic Center.

The two-hour show will honor hip-hop, R&B and soul stars nominated by the editors of Vibe magazine, and the range of contenders is indicated by those up for Artist of the Year: 50 Cent, Beyonce, Sean Paul, Missy Elliott and R. Kelly.

"We definitely have OutKast and Missy Elliott performing," Latifah reports, "and Puffy, or P. Diddy (or Sean Combs), will be a presenter. We're also going to have some 'old-school' performances, bringing back people who were major influences on today's stars, so this isn't just about who has the best record out now. It's also about who made the hottest record years ago to make all this happen."

Entertainment impresario Russell Simmons will receive a special award. Another special honor is named after the late hip-hop artists Tupac Shakur and Biggie Smalls.

"That will go to the person who is unquestionably the man or the woman of the year musically," Latifah notes. "Jay-Z will be honored with it this year. We also have categories like Most Influential Region, which you've never seen anywhere else. Atlanta, St. Louis,

New York, Los Angeles and Detroit are all up for that, because a lot of places are now creating sounds that are influencing the whole of hip-hop music."

Latifah explains that the Vibe Awards evolved in "kind of a strange way. My business partner, Shakim Compere, and I were meeting with UPN and CBS (which are co-owned) on different projects. We had met with Emil Wilbekin, who is the editor of Vibe, which wanted to put an award show together. Since UPN wanted to do business with us, we thought this would be a great way to marry everybody and make something interesting happen."

By also attending the Golden Globe Awards and the Screen Actors Guild Awards for "Chicago," Latifah got a sense of what she would and wouldn't desire in a ceremony she packaged herself.

"We wanted it to be classy and stylish, but also different," she explains. "You have the Oscars, which is a big gala in an auditorium; then you have the Golden Globes, where people are sitting at tables and it's kind of a party where everybody's having a good time while they get the awards."

"You haven't really seen that in an awards show that gives out honors in urban categories, whether it's for fashion, music or dance. Vibe was ecstatic about the ideas we had, and we were OK with their ideas, so it all worked. We knew we didn't want to do a cheesy show, or to just make up an awards show just for the sake of making it up. Vibe is an established brand with a certain style. They bring the hip-hop style and culture together with (coverage of) issues, and that's in line with what we wanted to do."

Whether acting in films such as this year's "Bringing Down the House" and "Scary Movie 3," or singing on rap and adult-contemporary albums due out next spring, Newark, N.J., native Latifah (real name: Dana Owens) always maintains her own sense of style.

She adds, though, that she's "kind of used to crossing the lines of everything possible. It doesn't matter what it is, I'll step into it if I feel I'm capable of doing it. If I feel like I can't do it, I'm not going to mess with it at all. The attitude of the glass being half-full is what we've always been about. We don't look at things as barriers as much as goals: 'Hey, let's go see if we can do this.'"

Strong ties to other showbiz entities definitely help. "A lot of people in the music business, managers and executives as well as artists, look at Shakim and me as being like mayors in a way," Latifah says. "We've been pioneers, as opposed to following other people's templates, and we've created templates for others to follow in trying to accomplish things for their own artists."

New 'Alias' regular teamed with Stamos

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q That new blonde on "Alias" looks familiar. Didn't she star with John Stamos on a short-lived series a few seasons back? And what ever happened to Clint Walker ("Cheyenne")? Did he recover from the accident in which a ski pole penetrated his heart? -Dennis in Columbus, Ohio.

A Yes, Australia native Melissa George, 27, who plays agent Lauren Reed on ABC's "Alias," co-starred with Stamos in the same network's "Thieves," which lasted for only eight episodes in the fall of 2001.

Walker, now 76, made a complete recovery from that ghastly long-ago ski accident you mention. He lent his rumbling voice to the character of Nick Nitro in the 1998 movie fantasy "Small Soldiers" and appeared in May on ABC's 50th Anniversary Celebration telecast. He also made a personal appearance at the 2003 Lone Pine (Calif.) Film Festival.

Q I looked forward to "Boomtown" returning this fall, but after a few episodes it has vanished. Has it been canceled? -Barb via e-mail.

A As I write this, NBC has placed "Boomtown" on indefinite hiatus, but it's pretty clear that if the fat lady hasn't sung yet, she's warming up in the wings. Despite glowing reviews, a Peabody Award and a citation from the Television Critics Association as last season's best new drama, this adult crime drama simply has not sparked with most viewers.

Viewership for the show last season on Sunday nights was nothing to write home about, and ratings in the show's new Friday time period have been sharply below that of the previous occupant, "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit." In fact, when NBC substituted a Friday rerun - that's right, a rerun - of "L&O: SVU" recently, it won the time period, far outdistancing the "Boomtown" audience share.

Q I recently read that Kathryn Erbe was on maternity leave from "Law & Order: Criminal Intent." Will Bobby Goren (Vincent D'Onofrio) be going it alone without a partner? -Ashley Ortiz via e-mail.

A By the time you read this, you probably know the answer, but Samantha Buck is filling in for six episodes as police Detective G. Lynn Bishop. Erbe welcomed her second child in October; the actress returns to her "Intent" role as police Detective Alexandra Eames later this season.

Jackman and company do fine in an evergreen 'Oklahoma!'

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Hugh Jackman must be feeling a little time-warped these days as he sits in his dressing room inside Broadway's Imperial Theatre.

Each night, the 35-year-old actor revives the glorious, glittering excess that was flamboyant entertainer Peter Allen in the new musical "The Boy From Oz," which has earned Jackman ecstatic reviews.

Recently, however, he took a short break from his whirlwind schedule to reflect on one of the roles that helped launch his international career: Curly in Trevor Nunn's acclaimed Royal National Theatre production of "Oklahoma!" Jackman's star quality lights up a "Great Performances" PBS telecast of that production (filmed in 1999) on Saturday, Nov. 22 (check local listings).

Jackman recalls that he jumped at the chance when Nunn offered him the job.

"I was blindly enthusiastic. I was excited without even having to think about it!" he says. "I had worked with Trevor Nunn on 'Sunset Boulevard' and was excited to have the opportunity to work with him again. No director makes you feel more confident."

And confidence is key in a role that calls for a natural swagger, as well as vocal nerves strong enough for the show's unconventional opening, in which Curly is heard singing the first measures of "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'" without the orchestra.

"It's a pretty 'naked' beginning," Jackman agrees, "(but) the first phrase of the song is sung in the wings, and by the time I was on stage the butterflies in my stomach were gone."

Theodore S. Chapin, the president and executive director of the Rodgers & Hammerstein Organization, says Nunn had Jackman in mind as his "Oklahoma!" leading man from the very start.

"Shortly after I met Trevor, he said, 'I have the Curly. You are just going to have to trust me,'" Chapin recalls. "He sent me a little piece from an Australian TV show on Hugh Jackman, and I put it on in the office, and very soon all the women in the office were coming in going, 'Oooh, who is he?'"

"When we went over to see what I think was the first dress rehearsal, I could tell Hugh was really exceptional, although I am still convinced English audiences did not 'get' Hugh's Curly the way American audiences will. In a funny way, he is so 'straight' as Curly, that you know he is completely undone by this pretty girl and has no idea how to handle her. It just makes the character so incredibly real."

That credibility also carried over into the realistic fight scenes between Jackman and co-star Shuler Hensley, an American actor who earned ecstatic notices with his dangerous yet surprisingly sympathetic portrayal of Jud Fry, Curly's rival for Laurey.

"I was in heaven, with these two big, strapping men who really knew how to move," laughs Susan Stroman, whose lusty, fight-based choreography is another highlight of the piece.

"Hugh and Shuler got to be good friends during rehearsals, so there was a level of trust that allowed them to really throw themselves into that last fight scene, which really looks kind of dangerous," Chapin adds.

What left audiences gasping was just another source of fun for Jackman and Hensley, however.

"I know it might be hard to believe, but Shuler Hensley is one of the funniest men I have ever met," Jackman says. "The fight scene rehearsals were like the WWF, and I enjoyed that more than any other serious theater enterprise that I have been a part of."

The performances of Josefina Gabrielle as headstrong Laurey and character actress Maureen Lipman as crusty Aunt Eller also were well-received by London critics and audiences, but PBS viewers will note that this "Oklahoma!" is undeniably Jackman's show. With his sunny grin as broad as the prairie itself, the star radiates a joy in performing that is all too rare.

"Hugh has strength and vulnerability at the same time," Stroman says. "By the time we finished rehearsing 'Oklahoma!' it was shaped through the eyes of Curly, and audiences saw it through his eyes. I never had felt that with any other production of 'Oklahoma!' and it had everything to do with Hugh Jackman."

"He comes out and he has the audience in the palm of his hand. Hugh has that as a human being, too. He lives in the present, and is right there with what is happening around him, whereas sadly, many other actors always seem to have one foot out the door toward the next job when they are rehearsing or even performing. I think audiences feel that."

For all this London success with an American work, however, Jackman's heart remains Down Under, which is why his current Broadway gig in "The Boy From Oz" - an Australian-crafted musical about an Australian entertainer - is providing a very special reward.

"Peter (Allen) had an honesty in his songwriting that just touches you," Jackman says, "and being an Aussie, singing 'I Still Call Australia Home' every night is, of course, very special to me."

"I remember very clearly once watching Peter sing the song, which is now like a second national anthem in Australia. The first time he sang it was at the launch of a 15,000-seat entertainment center. Peter had on this waistcoat with an Australian flag behind him."

"My father was watching with my brother and I," the actor recalls. "We looked up, and Dad was crying. Peter had that way with everyone - old, young, men, women, gay, straight - which in Australia was not always that easy."

He's just a regular guy with his eye on the sky

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Henry Winkler is not one of those actors embarrassed to be associated with one character.

To this day he loves The Fonz. Winkler was cast as Arthur Fonzarelli in "Happy Days" on his 28th birthday. He has gone on to amass 60 other acting credits - including "Clifford's Puppy Days" Wednesday on PBS (check local listings) - produce numerous TV programs and direct 10 shows. But Winkler will be remembered as the tough guy in the black motorcycle jacket whose trademark was saying, "Aaaaay."

That greeting so permeated pop culture that Winkler says, "I get it in 100 countries. I think it is just phenomenal."

"Here is the greatest thing about being in New York," he continues. "I am standing there, waiting for a bus. A cop car stops and he says, 'Where are you going?' I tell him. And he says, 'Get in.' I got in and these wonderful guys took me. That little detail is what I love the most. I am treated with such incredible friendship and warmth. It's just a wonderful life."

Fonzie is a far cry from the real Winkler, who may be the only Hollywood producer who waits for buses on the streets of Manhattan. "The character of Fonzie is very simple," he says. "He is my alter ego. He is everybody I wanted to be. I was completely insecure, thinking I was stupid. I was completely at the mercy of how people thought of me. And, when I got to play this guy, I was in charge for the first time."

Discovering he had dyslexia when his stepson was tested for it proved that he was not stupid, as some teachers charged. Indeed, Winkler graduated from Yale University with a masters in drama.

"I was born to do what I am doing," he says. "Yesterday, some of us at 'Hollywood Squares' went out to have lunch at an Indian restaurant, and we passed a movie company at the end of the street. And my heart flutters. I am not kidding. It just makes me crazy."

He does many guest appearances, and was doing one on "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter" the day his longtime friend John Ritter died. "How is that from the heavens that I was the guest star that week?" he asks.

Ritter and Winkler met at ABC's 25th anniversary party. Winkler recalls their first conversation was about the promos for Ritter's new sitcom, "Three's Company." "I thought his physical humor, just from the promo, was phenomenal," Winkler says.

Although Winkler savors his acting, directing and producing gigs, it is making Hank Zipzer, a misunderstood fourth grader, come alive in his series of books, "Hank Zipzer: The Mostly True Confessions of the World's Best Underachiever," that has him on fire.

When he isn't producing, directing, acting or writing, Winkler is giving speeches about dyslexia and life in general. He recently spoke to a class of graduate students at USC, telling them "Look, everybody has told you what to do. I am going to tell you how to do it. You have to do it from your inside. You have to align mentally, physically and spiritually, so that you are prepared for whatever comes at you. Then, you can make a decision based on your strength as opposed to your desperation. ... It is having faith in your decision-making process that is the beginning and end of your career."

Beloved actor, producer, director and children's author Henry Winkler provides the voice of Norville, the friendly bird who flies and talks his way through the spinoff animated series "Clifford's Puppy Days," airing Wednesday on PBS.

NBC hopes for high drama, ratings

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

NBC's Dan Hicks is hoping for a close President's Cup this year. History, however, is not exactly on his side.

Since it was first played at Robert Trent Jones Golf Club in Northern Virginia in 1994, the average margin of victory in this biennial match-play tournament that pits a team from the United States against an international squad of non-European players has been over seven points. If you throw out the U.S. team's 16 1/2-15 1/2 victory in 1996, that margin jumps to over nine points.

Not exactly the stuff of high drama - or ratings for that matter - a trend Hicks and NBC hopes changes for the better this year.

"I think this an important one," says Hicks, who will provide play by play when NBC broadcasts the final two days of the fifth President's Cup on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 22-23, from The Links at Fancourt in George, South Africa. (TNT airs the first two on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 20-21). "I think we need to get a close, dramatic competition going down the stretch to really put the focus on this, because you know what? Bottom line: We've got the top players in the world. I'll tell you what: If it gets down to the end of it, there'd be definitely some guys paying attention to those Sunday singles if Tiger (Woods) ends up going against Vijay (Singh) or - you're just bound to get some great matchups. So I think it's an important one. I think it needs to be close. I'm hoping it's close, and I think if it is close, I think it's going to get a big, huge shot in the arm because it has been a little bit maligned in the past. So if you're a golf fan, look at these players that are assembled. I mean, it just doesn't get any better."

So while the talent level is great, the buzz has been not so great, in part because of the blowouts and in part, Hicks believes, because it is so often compared with the Ryder Cup, the more storied biennial tournament with which it alternates years. "The Ryder Cup has obviously got all the history, and each and every Ryder Cup has just outdone itself, and it's been hard to believe, but at the same time, just an absolute privilege to do them. You just go into the Ryder Cup and know they're going to be great and they are. And the President's Cup has just been - there's been some lopsided victories. They're trying to get the history. There's no easy way to do it; no easy solution."

One source of drama could come from Nicklaus, who is trying to improve upon his less-than-stellar record as a team captain. "Jack'll be the first to tell you he hasn't had a lot of success," Hicks says. "I mean, he's lost Ryder Cups; he's lost this President's Cup. And I think it was important that when he went to (PGA Tour Commissioner) Tim Finchem or Tim Finchem went to him and they talked about him being captain, Jack was really adamant about being the captain. So I think it's real important for him, and I think there's been an underlying tone to this whole thing as far as the Americans are concerned, is to win this thing for Jack. Not to sound corny, but I think that that is going to have a definite effect on the way they come out and play. And then you've got him going against Gary Player. You don't think there's still some competitive fires going between those two guys? So, I think that's a really nice dynamic that kind of just cranks it up a little bit, just cranks it up a notch or two before they even tee it up."

As a backdrop to what NBC hopes is dramatic golf is the dramatic terrain at Fancourt, a windswept landscape marked by sand dunes and surrounded by the Outeniqua Mountains.

"NASCAR Winston Cup Ford 400" Sunday, Nov. 16 (NBC, 1 p.m. ET): The Winston Cup circuit decides its champion when the 2003 season concludes with the Ford 400, which airs live from Homestead-Miami Speedway in Homestead, Fla. Last year, Kurt Busch collected his fourth win of 2002 and third in five races, a surge that catapulted him in the final standings behind Mark Martin and champion Tony Stewart. Here, he'll battle points leaders Matt Kenseth, Kevin Harvick, Dale Earnhardt Jr., Ryan Newman, Jimmie Johnson, among others.

"Dallas Cowboys at New England Patriots" Sunday, Nov. 16 (ESPN, 8:30 p.m. ET): Probably the biggest story so far of the 2003 season has been how Bill Parcells has transformed a moribund Cowboys team into a playoff contender that recently ran off five straight wins to put them atop the NFC East as of Week 8. He'll be facing his former assistant, Bill Belichick, whose Patriots are also leading their division, the AFC East, despite being without several key players on defense.

"Minnesota Timberwolves at Cleveland Cavaliers" Friday, Nov. 21 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): After tanking in the first round of the playoffs last year, the Timberwolves overhauled their starting five, bringing in point guard Sam Cassell, legitimate big man Michael Olowokandi and scorer Latrell Sprewell, who can share the load with Kevin Garnett. The Cavs have a new face of their own to get excited about: first overall draft choice LeBron James, whom some liken to a young Michael Jordan.

Movie: The Other Sister

Directed by Garry Marshall, this enjoyable 1999 comedy-drama casts Juliette Lewis as a mentally challenged woman. When she falls in love with a young man (Giovanni Ribisi, "Saving Private Ryan") with the same condition, the relationship alarms her overprotective mother (Diane Keaton). Tom Skerritt, Poppy Montgomery ("Without a Trace") and Marshall-movie regular Hector Elizondo co-star.

7 p.m. and TBS

Movie: The Wizard of Oz

Before VCRs and DVD players, gathering in front of the tube for the annual broadcast of this 1939 classic was a family ritual. Dorothy and her brain-, heart- and courage-challenged companions are as full of spunk and song as ever, the witch is still wicked, and the tale's many morals remain valid. Judy Garland, Ray Bolger, Jack Haley, Bert Lahr and Margaret Hamilton star.

Monday

9:40 p.m. and TBS

Movie: Ghostbusters

This spirited comedy was the summer blockbuster of 1984, and the years haven't diluted its dry wit. Bill Murray, Dan Aykroyd, Harold Ramis and Ernie Hudson star as ghost exterminators who are quickly promoted from capturing the occasional poltergeist to saving the world when a powerful demon tries to take Manhattan. Sigourney Weaver plays the pretty musician who catches the eye of Murray's character, and whose building is ground zero for the demonic invasion.

Tuesday

7 a.m. on TBS

Movie: Guarding Tess

Academy Award winners Nicolas Cage and Shirley MacLaine team up for this 1994 character comedy about a Secret Service agent who finds that guarding a feisty and indomitable presidential widow (a character said to be based loosely on Bess Truman) is more than a handful.

Thursday

5 p.m. on DSC

Frogs: The Movie

This documentary traces frog species from the hot sands of Africa's deserts to the subzero temperatures of southern Europe's mountains, showing how the versatile amphibians have adapted to a wide range of climates. Included are looks at fascinating species such as poison dart frogs, the flying frog and Bunty's toad, a tiny creature the size of a garden pea.

Saturday

8 p.m. on 49-PAX

Movie: Twice Upon a Christmas

According to this 2001 tale, Santa Claus procreated — twice. One of his daughters (Kathy Ireland) has been magically sent from the North Pole, and she loses her memory of her family and all the good things that come with Christmastime. Years later, her memory starts coming back in bits and pieces, but it takes the belief of a man and his children to help her return home and battle her mercenary sister. Mary Donnelly-Haskell and John Dye co-star.

TV Trivia

Greg Kinnear ("Auto Focus") graduated from the University of Arizona with a journalism degree, then found a job as a marketing assistant.

Don Ameche ("Cocoon") left law school to pursue a theater career, and spent five years as a radio announcer prior to his big break.

Helen Prejean ("Sister Helen") has received over 30 honorary degrees from institutions of higher learning such as Notre Dame College.

Queen Latifah ("Vibe Awards: Beats, Style, Flavor") worked at a fast food restaurant before joining the music group Ladies Fresh.

Peter Ustinov ("Spartacus") started the Ustinov Foundation, which assists underdeveloped areas throughout the world.

All My Children

Ryan found Bianca's sonogram and questioned if she is pregnant with Michael's child. Kendall jumped in, insisting that she is carrying Michael's baby, but Ryan refused to believe her. When Ryan wouldn't join forces with Greenlee against Kendall, an angry Greenlee headed out to see Erica. Adam's scheme to blackmail Babe into leaving town using her unflattering past backfired when she threatened to tell the police what she overheard him and Erica discussing about the night Michael disappeared. Pablo told Carlos they would be leaving Pine Valley soon - without Greenlee. Erica was grateful when Aidan, Boyd and Tad buried Michael's body in the garbage dump. Coming: Greenlee attempts to team up with Erica.

As the World Turns

Alison learned she's pregnant and planned to tell Chris, only to be informed that he's moving to Philadelphia. Instead, she decided never to tell him about the baby. Bonnie and Sarah shared an emotional goodbye before Bonnie began serving a six-month sentence. Barbara headed off her hit man, but when Rose later got a threatening call, Paul convinced Rose to move in with him and posted a bodyguard outside the door. Cornered by Carly, Craig lied that he talked to Cabot's birth mother and everything is fine. Mitzi feared a prison term when Jack told her the penalty for the theft that was committed. Coming: Barbara isn't through scheming.

Bold and Beautiful

Sally overheard Nick ask if a test can determine paternity if the two prospective fathers are brothers, and used the news to attempt to blackmail Brooke into giving Spectra back to her. Instead, Brooke vowed to tell Ridge the entire truth. Eric caught Thorne and Jonathan by surprise with an offer to fund Deacon's new company and give Deacon a third of it, in exchange for Deacon giving back Eric's 2 percent of Forrester. Ridge was thrilled and delighted to learn that Stephanie wants to throw Brooke a baby shower. Bridget shared an intense moment with Oscar. Coming: Will Sally's hatred get her what she wants?

Days of Our Lives

Maggie passed away surrounded by her loved ones, and Rex was arrested for her murder after evidence pointed in his direction. Caroline shocked everyone when certain findings hinted at her involvement and she refused to go along with Grandpa Shawn's alibi for her. Victor admitted to being with Caroline when Maggie was attacked, then warned Nicole that if anything happens to Caroline, Nicole is dead. A fourth casket mysteriously appeared during the funerals of Abe, Jack and Maggie, and Caroline was stunned by what she saw inside. Coming: Bo fears for Caroline's safety as the killer threatens to strike again.

General Hospital

Sage, Luis Alcazar's daughter, menaced Alexis but her gun fired blanks. When Dillon grabbed the gun and turned it as Lucky arrived, Lucky shot Dillon in the arm and was relieved of duty. Alcazar hired Dillon to be Sage's companion and bodyguard. When Faith ordered Zander to beat up Nikolas, Emily knocked out Zander and had him arrested for his own protection. Brian revealed that his wife and son were killed by a drunk driver, and impulsively kissed Courtney. Jax and Sam made love, but he later walked out on her after learning that she had sabotaged his car, preventing him from getting to John in time. Carly remained troubled about the dream she had while in the coma. Coming: Luke and Sam join forces against Tracy.

Guiding Light

Reva had a family dinner but excluded Edmund, leaving Cassie to deal with his hurt feelings. Reva feared she had pushed Sandy and Marah away, but began to connect with Sandy after she found him at Richard's grave and finally met the Mole. Tony acted coldly toward Marah and told Eden he's through with Marah, and wants only her. Lizzie wasn't pleased when Tammy beat her for the part of Juliet in the play. Marina countered Shayne's resistance to intimacy and they made love. Gus and Harley set up a stakeout when a woman came to them for help with a stalker. A guilt-ridden Billy and Josh visited Marianne Caruthers' grave. Coming: Tony gets involved in a campaign to be near Eden.

One Life to Live

When one body was found in the elevator, Walker convinced Blair, John and Antonio that the dead man was Flynn. Bo and John feared that the Music Box Killer is in town after they found Elyssa's dead body. Blair and Walker were married. Later, John demanded to know if Walker killed Elyssa because she discovered his secret. Michael blurted out to Marcie that he loves her, and kissed her, leaving Marcie unnerved. Coming: Viki and Dorian face a perilous situation.

Passions

Sam was shattered when Grace called out for David as her husband, while Ivy was delighted. Grace later wrestled with choosing between Sam and David, once and for all. The search for Sheridan's baby continued while Beth tried covering her tracks after an angry encounter with Charlie. However, baby Martin's health problems threw an obstacle in Beth's path. Antonio began to question the connection between Luis and Sheridan. Whitney's tearful reunion with her family turned ugly when T.C. attacked Chad. Meanwhile, Fox stopped Julian's rant by voicing his suspicions regarding his father and Eve. Coming: Luis confronts Antonio.

Young and Restless

After Chris and Paul shared a poignant goodbye, she was stunned to find Danny at her door. Lauren and Lynne traded barbs about who has romantic feelings for Paul. Ashley insisted she is ready to leave the hospital. Michael and Victoria's kissing session was stopped from escalating when Michael said they should take things slowly. Nick shocked Jack with the news about Victor and Michael's bribery - and that Nick turned them in. Neil was certain that Dru is hiding something from him. Coming: Jack agrees to try a new plan that could save Jabot.

Soap Talk

Eakes! It's a new job for Bobbie at 'AMC'

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

In a surprise move, Bobbie Eakes is switching soaps.

The former "Bold and the Beautiful" star had a change of heart when her character, Macy Alexander, was hit in the head and fell in a coma.

With her story line on the back burner, Eakes decided to check into the role of Krystal in "All My Children." "B&B" executives let her out of her contract so she could audition for the role, and now the actress will make the move from Los Angeles, where "B&B" is taped, to New York. Krystal, who is the mother of Babe (Alexa Havins), will become romantically involved with Tad Martin (Michael E. Knight).

Actress Jennifer Finnigan (Bridget Forrester), who announced she would not re-sign with "B&B," will continue in the role until her contract expires in January.

Dear Candace: Could you please tell me the name of the actor who plays Lucky on "General Hospital"? He seems so familiar, but I just can't place him. -Sarah M. via the Internet.

Dear Reader: Greg Vaughn is the third actor to play Lucky Spencer in "GH." He also portrayed Diego Gutierrez in "The Young and the Restless." He's had several roles in prime time, including stints in "Charmed," "Beverly Hills, 90210" and "Malibu Shores."

Some of Vaughn's films include "Children of the Corn V: Fields of Terror," "Poison Ivy: The New Seduction" and "Stuart Bliss."

Dear Candace: I have to say I'm so disappointed about "Port Charles" going off the air. I think it's so much better than "Passions." I watched "Passions" from the beginning and it's so ridiculous. And the stories just go in circles. I wonder sometimes how many times poor Sheridan (McKenzie Westmore) can die.

I don't see how "PC" can be gone and "Passions" is still around. The writing for "PC" was brilliant and had become a modern-day "Dark Shadows." I miss the show much more than I ever thought I would. -Singing the Port Charles Blues in Florida.

Dear Reader: Many share your angst about the departure of "PC."

Britney Spears: In the Zone

Even when she hasn't had a new compact disc to promote, the pop-music superstar has remained the object of gossip — so the Britney watch is on the rise now that she does have a new release, "In the Zone." On the eve of its arrival in stores, this new special showcases the singer in renditions of her latest tunes at Gotham Hall in New York. Footage of Spears in her daily life is woven through the hour.

7 p.m. on 38-WB
7th Heaven

Series star Stephen Collins is reunited with Meredith Baxter, who played his wife in the 1992 TV movie "A Woman Scorned: The Betty Broderick Story," in the new episode "Go Ask Alice." Baxter guest stars as a high-school principal whose unusual behavior makes her a suspect when a student vanishes. Eric (Collins) is certain there's a different reason for the disappearance.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN
The Parkers

Jennie Finch, the star pitcher for the USA Softball National Team, plays herself in the sitcom's 100th episode, "Foul Ball." She's enlisted by Kim, Stevie and Nikki (Countess Vaughn, Jenna von Oy, Mo'Nique) to help them win an annual softball game they usually lose. Prof. Oglevee and T (Dorien Wilson, Ken L) also have a secret weapon: former Cincinnati Reds player Eric Davis (also appearing as himself).

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Everybody Loves Raymond

Katherine Helmond ("Soap") reprises her recurring guest role as Debra's (Patricia Heaton) mom in the new episode "The Surprise Party." Ray (Ray Romano) is reluctant to help his mother-in-law stage a surprise bash in Debra's honor, making him unsure which of the women he'd rather have mad at him — especially when Debra finds out and wants a Chinese banquet instead of the English tea party her mother has in mind.

8 p.m. on 38-WB
Everwood

Linda (Marcia Cross) is prompted to reveal her big secret to Andy (Treat Williams), who has become smitten with her despite warnings from Harold and Edna (Tom Amandes, Debra Mooney), in the new episode "Just Like in the Movies." Ephram's (Gregory Smith) scheme to win Madison's (Sarah Lancaster) heart backfires. Amy (Emily VanCamp) falls for a young man (guest star Paul Wasilewski, "Wolf Lake") with a bad reputation.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC
Las Vegas

Mary (Nikki Cox) escorts a music star (guest star Sheryl Lee Ralph) stalked by an admirer who believes he is her husband, in the new episode "Luck Be a Lady." The singer's performance at the resort could be memorable for the wrong reasons. Also trying to protect her is Ed's (James Caan) former CIA partner (guest star Mimi Rogers). Sam (Vanessa Marcil) has problems with a businessman who won't gamble.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Whoopi

Diahann Carroll guest stars as Mavis (Whoopi Goldberg) visiting mom in the new episode "Mother's Little Helper." Mavis expects to clash with her mother as usual, but the new medication taken by the elder woman keeps her sedate and agreeable — until the pills are lost. After that, it seems like old times.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

One on One

Motown veteran Smokey Robinson guest stars in a new episode named after one of his biggest music hits, "Tears of a Clown." He plays Duane's (Kelly Perine) estranged father, who needs a new kidney — and hopes Duane will be the supplier. Flex (Flex Alexander) isn't happy with the new co-host (guest star Jenny McCarthy) forced upon him by his boss (guest star Beth Littleford, "The Daily Show") because of his show's sagging ratings.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

I'm With Her

Alex (Teri Polo) comes to realize just how much she needs Cheri (Rhea Seehorn), who quits as Alex's assistant to devote time to restoring the family boat, in the new episode "Alex Misses the Boat." Cheri's replacement, played by guest star Ana Gasteyer ("Saturday Night Live"), clearly doesn't have the same organizational mastery Cheri possesses — forcing Alex into damage control.

7:30 p.m. on 6-NBC

Happy Family

Tim (Tyler Francavilla) gets a rival for Maggie's (Susan Gibney) affection — her visiting ex-husband (guest star Patrick Warburton, "Seinfeld") — in the new episode "Bill's Back." The two men are willing to take the competition as far as they have to, but Tim may have the edge when he does something to show Maggie just how much he cares for her.

7:30 p.m. on 54-UPN

All of Us

Will Smith, whose marriage to Jada Pinkett Smith inspired this series, guest stars in the new episode "Jonny Comes Marching Home." He plays a recently divorced man who went to college with Robert and Neesee (Duane Martin, "L.A. Law"). When he moves back to Los Angeles, he takes a romantic interest in Neesee — sparking mixed reactions in Robert, her ex-husband. Smith's children, Trey and Jaden, also guest star.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

24

Jack (Kiefer Sutherland) believes negotiation with the terrorists is essential in the new episode "Day 3: 4:00 — 5:00 PM." President Palmer (Dennis Haysbert) refuses to deal, though, since he fears the message such bargaining would send to others who might threaten the United States. A crisis facing Tony (Carlos

8 p.m. on 38-WB

One Tree Hill

Troubled by personal matters, Nathan (James Lafferty) takes amphetamines to boost his game performance in the new episode "With Arms Outstretched." The bad results mess up his athletic ability as well as his relationships. Peyton's (Hilarie Burton) plan to patch things up with Lucas (Chad Michael Murray) is derailed when she finds him with Brooke (Sophia Bush).

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Frasier

Guest star Bebe Neuwirth returns as Frasier's (Kelsey Grammer) ex-wife, Lilith, in the new episode "Guns 'N Neuroses." They're reunited when a well-intentioned friend arranges a blind date for Lilith — with Frasier. Niles and Daphne (David Hyde Pierce, Jane Leeves) don't want Martin (John Mahoney) to continue having a gun.

That '70s Show

No one believes Kelso's (Ashton Kutcher) claim that he's gotten up-close and personal with the valedictorian (guest star Shannon Elizabeth, "American Pie") of their high-school class in the new episode "The Acid Queen." Her relative merits are debated by Jackie and Hyde (Mila Kunis, Danny Masterson). Eric (Topher Grace) runs into complications while trying to borrow men's magazines from the library.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

The sinister Morgan Edge — now played by Patrick Bergin ("Sleeping With the Enemy") instead of the original actor, Rutger Hauer — is tracked down by Lex (Michael Rosenbaum), who becomes a target because of what he learns, in the new episode "Shattered." Lex seeks help from Clark (Tom Welling), who finds no evidence of a threat and starts to wonder if Lex has imagined the situation.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

A Minute With Stan Hooper

Stan (Norm Macdonald) has a hard time adjusting to the idea that Waterford Falls is virtually crime-free in the new episode "Fear Finds the Falls." He decides to prove that his new neighbors should be more cautious by engineering a mock robbery of the Petersens' (Garret Dillahunt, Daniel Roebuck) diner. The supposed heist still fails to put others on guard, so Stan devises a more drastic plot.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The O.C.

At Thanksgiving, Seth (Adam Brody) struggles to decide whether he wants to be with Summer or Anna (Rachel Bilson, guest star Samaira Armstrong) in the new episode "The Homecoming." Marissa (Mischa Barton) goes with Ryan (Benjamin McKenzie) to visit his incarcerated brother, enraging Julie (Melinda Clarke) and making things tense at the Cohen residence, where the young couple's return is awaited.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Bachelor

Becoming this show's bachelor, after being a runner-up in "The Bachelorette" last season, has proven to be less than the lark that amiable Bob Guiney anticipated. He's had some hard choices to make, and he must make the toughest one of all as this unscripted series ends its season with a two-hour episode. Two women remain, but only one of them can have the final rose — and Bob's heart. Chris Harrison is the host.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The King of Queens

Carrie (Leah Remini) fears her own job is on the line after her boss is dismissed in the new episode "Eggsit Strategy." She goes straight to the company chief (guest star Victor Raider-Wexler) to determine whether she has a future with the company, and she misreads the response she gets. Deacon (Victor Williams) is mad at Doug (Kevin James), who lost Deacon's prized, allegedly lucky koosh ball.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

The West Wing

A fiscal battle between President Bartlet and the House speaker (Martin Sheen, guest star Steven Culp) results in a shutdown of the federal government in the new episode "Shutdown." Virtually the entire White House staff is sent home as the Democrat president makes plans to confront the Republicans, who want to reduce his proposed budget.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Victoria's Secret Fashion Show

Complaints from some viewers last year haven't prevented CBS from again giving a prime-time showcase to lovely ladies in suggestive attire. Supermodels Heidi Klum, Tyra Banks and Gisele Bündchen return to the runway for this new edition of the special, taped at the Lexington Avenue Armory in New York. At least you can expect Sting and Mary J. Blige to turn up in fuller sets of clothes since they're the hour's musical guests.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

A reporter, who was sent back to the United States after revealing the location of the military unit he was with in Iraq, is shot in the new episode "Embedded." Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) have no shortage of suspects, but the list narrows when the handgun used in the shooting turns out to be have been issued by the Army. A sergeant then comes under suspicion.

9 p.m. on 19-PBS

Grand Canyon, a Naked Planet Special

In an era when the media cranks out superstars, supermodels, greatest hits and crimes of the century at breakneck speed, Mother Nature still knows the meaning of superlatives. The Grand Canyon proves it, and this program delves into the history and creation of the natural marvel — and also reminds us that some parts of our landscape will never succumb to control by man, despite our best efforts. Peter Thomas narrates.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

Joan's (Amber Tamblyn) interest in a certain historical figure — namely, Joan of Arc — is heightened when she discovers modern scholars' take on the 15th-century martyr in the new episode "St. Joan." They believe the ancient Joan, who also communicated with the deity, was schizophrenic. The modern Joan also faces opposition from the masses, or at least her school peers, when she won't retake an exam.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Vibe Awards: Beats, Style, Flavor

Cutting-edge stars of urban music are saluted in the maiden edition of this event, taped at the Santa Monica (Calif.) Civic Center, with Queen Latifah — who adjusted her musical roots for her acclaimed work in the movie "Chicago" — serving as both a host and an executive producer. A number of hip-hop, R&B and soul artists perform during the two-hour special, including Missy Elliott, Mary J. Blige (featuring Eve), OutKast and Ludacris.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Hope and Faith's (Kelly Ripa, Faith Ford) father is portrayed by veteran actor Robert Wagner in the new episode "Phone Home for the Holidays." Known for playing the field socially, and usually with a much-younger women, Dad surprises his daughters by bringing an age-appropriate girlfriend (Lynda Carter) with him for Thanksgiving. The sisters are even more surprised when the new flame confesses a secret.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Miss Match

Kate (Alicia Silverstone) tries to make a certain kind of love match for the first time in the new episode "The Love Bandit." The daughter (guest star Cara Buono) of a family friend (guest star Caroline Aaron) seeks help from Kate, who then learns the young woman is gay.

8:30 p.m. on 38-WB

All About the Andersons

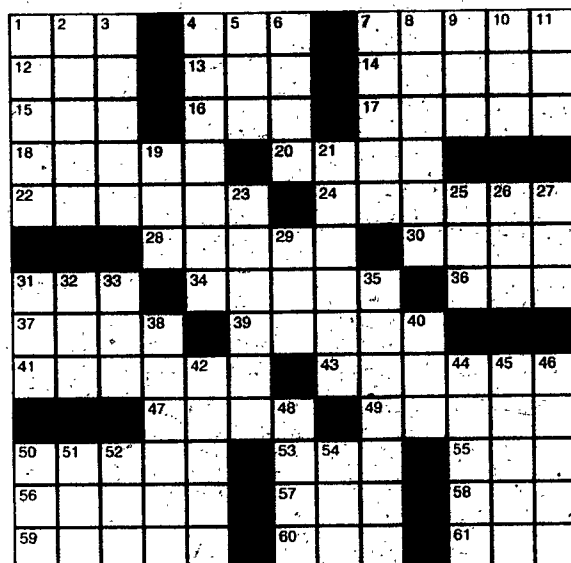

Martin Spanjers moonlights from his role as Rory in "8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teenage Daughter" to guest star in the new episode "Training Wheels."

Saturday Best Bets

6 p.m. on TNT

Movie: Seven

A ready-to-retire police detective and an energetic young rookie (Morgan Freeman, Brad Pitt) investigate a bizarre series of deaths in this 1995 thriller. The murder spree is a one-man crusade against the Seven Deadly Sins; the killer punishes gluttony, for example, by forcing a man to eat himself to death. Apparently, someone forgot to tell him murder is a sin, too. Gwyneth Paltrow co-stars.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: Eloise at Christmastime

Oscar winner Julie Andrews and young Sofia Vassilieva reprise their roles from last season's "Eloise at the Plaza" in this new story based on the characters of author Kay Thompson. During the holidays in New York, spirited Plaza Hotel resident Eloise (Vassilieva) gets entangled in the wedding plans of the hotel owner's daughter. Jeffrey Tambor and Christine Baranski co-star.

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Highlander

There can be only one, and in this 1986 tale of immortality, Christopher Lambert plans to be it. He stars as Connor MacLeod, born on the Scottish Highlands in the 16th century, and rejected by his clansmen when he returns to the land of the living after death. As an outcast, he is trained by a fellow immortal (Sean Connery). MacLeod's skills are put to the test when he must behead the evil Kurgan (Clancy Brown) in modern New York.

8 p.m. on 4-GBS

Hack

Jamie (Matt Czuchy) is worried about a longtime friend who has turned to prostitution in the new episode "To Have and Have Not." He asks Olshansky (David Morse) for help in getting the girl to change her ways, fearing that her occupation will get her into big trouble.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

Homeless people are set up to impersonate foreign businessmen and then killed for the insurance money in "Probability." Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) get assistance from a fraud expert (guest star Mark Linn-Baker, "Perfect Strangers"), then find one of the masterminds of the scheme murdered in his apartment.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

The District

An apparent vision of the Virgin Mary convinces the perpetrator of a long-ago bank robbery to change his ways — and to give the money and other items he stole to the impoverished — in this new episode. Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) isn't sure how to handle the situation, particularly since his building is where the supposed vision was seen.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"THE SANTA CLAUSE 2": Eight years after he first played the part, Tim Allen returns as the divorced dad magically transformed into Father Christmas in this enjoyable if superfluous Disney comedy sequel. He has to save the holiday, and his role in it, by finding a Mrs. Claus. Elizabeth Mitchell ("The Lyon's Den") plays the top candidate. Another problem for Santa is that his son (Eric Lloyd) has been acting more naughty than nice. David Krumholtz co-stars. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; audio commentary by Allen and co-star Spencer Breslin; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; outtakes; interactive game; e-cards.  (G)

"LARA CROFT: TOMB RAIDER - THE CRADLE OF LIFE": Angelina Jolie brings the video-game character back to life in this large-scale adventure sequel, notable mainly for some innovative stunts staged by director Jan De Bont ("Speed"). Lara literally dives to new depths to recover Pandora's Box, which a Chinese criminal mastermind (Simon Yam) wants to acquire for dastardly purposes. Gerard Butler, Ciaran Hinds, Noah Taylor and Djimon Hounsou ("Amistad") co-star. DVD extras: audio commentary by De Bont; "making-of" documentaries;

Video Vantage

deleted scenes; music videos.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"SINBAD: LEGEND OF THE SEVEN SEAS": A strong voice cast, with actors who normally don't work in animation, is among the main attractions of this lavish, feature-length cartoon written by John Logan ("Gladiator"). Brad Pitt speaks the words of the title character, a thief who plunders the seas for treasure, which he finds in a "Book of Peace" that a goddess (voice of Michelle Pfeiffer) also wants. Her scheme to obtain the tome forces Sinbad to pursue her to the literal ends of the earth. Catherine Zeta-Jones, Joseph Fiennes and Dennis Haysbert also lend their voices to the adventure. DVD extras: audio commentary by directors Tim Johnson and Patrick Gilmore; "making-of" documentary; interactive games and activities.  (PG: V)

"BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN: LIVE IN BARCELONA": One of New Jersey's favorite sons performs with his E Street Band in a concert recorded in Spain, and filled with the raw energy that has kept Springsteen one of the biggest draws on the live-performance circuit. Accompanied by musical teammates saxophonist Clarence Clemons, drummer Max Weinberg, and guitarists Patti Scialfa and Steve Van Zandt, "The Boss" renders such as classics "Badlands," "Tenth Avenue Freeze-Out," "Thunder Road" and "Darkness on the Edge of Town." * (Not rated)

"THE KING OF QUEENS: THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON": The CBS comedy series compiles its first-year episodes in a three-DVD set. Previously a stand-up comic, Kevin James stars as delivery man Doug Heffernan, whose wife (Leah Remini) surprises him with a giant television set in the show's pilot episode. The gift makes him popular with his buddies and another visitor: his father-in-law Arthur (Jerry Stiller), who decides to move in instead of becoming a resident of a retirement home. DVD extras: audio commentary by James and series creator-producer Michael Weithorn on the pilot episode; "making-of" documentary; montage of "the season's funniest moments."  (Not rated: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"BRUCE ALMIGHTY," (Nov. 25): After complaining that everything in his life has gone wrong, a man (Jim Carrey) suddenly inherits heavenly power. Jennifer Aniston also stars. (PG-13: AS, P)

"X2: X-MEN UNITED" (Nov. 25): The gifted mutants again band together to stop an equally powerful assassin. Halle Berry, Hugh Jackman and Patrick Stewart return. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"PIRATES OF THE CARIBBEAN: THE CURSE OF THE BLACK PEARL" (Dec. 2): The Disney theme-park ride comes to life, with Johnny Depp and Orlando Bloom as heroic buccaneers. (PG: P, V)

"BAD BOYS II" (Dec. 9): Will Smith and Martin Lawrence reunite as Miami police detectives out to stop a drug kingpin. (R: AS, P, V)

"GIGLI" (Dec. 9): When a gangland minion (Ben Affleck) seems unable to complete an assignment, a female counterpart (Jennifer Lopez) is brought in to finish the job. (R: AS, P, V)

"THE LEAGUE OF EXTRAORDINARY GENTLEMEN" (Dec. 16): Adventurer Allan Quatermain (Sean Connery) leads other legendary figures in a battle against a war-mongering villain. (PG-13: P, V)

'Coyote Waits' is worth the wait for Tony Hillerman fans

"Coyote Waits" is an engaging mystery with an ending only devoted Tony Hillerman readers will know before the credits roll. The exquisite film is also much more.

Premiering Sunday, Nov. 16, on PBS' "American Mystery!", it is a fascinating glimpse into a culture few outsiders understand. A whodunit about Native Americans and starring Native Americans, it is part of a trend on PBS to showcase American mystery writers. It also represents a 16-year struggle for executive producer and Hollywood icon Robert Redford to bring Hillerman's work to the screen.

"I saw the chance for a fresh new series on a fresh new landscape," Redford says, recalling his initial reaction to reading Hillerman in 1987. By bringing Hillerman's books to film, he hopes to dispel stereotypes about Native Americans.

"They were only explored prior to that with overcommercialized views of Indians with their arms folded," Redford says. "It was time to look at something that would give us a fresh view."

It is precisely this fresh view that makes "Coyote Waits" so enjoyable. Though the movie is in English, actors sometimes speak in Navajo, which is fascinating because this is not a language heard on television. There also are references to Native American customs. For instance, "Coyote Waits" refers to a Navajo proverb: Coyote is always out there waiting and coyote is always hungry.

"I think it is an opportunity for people to view aspects of Native American culture, but I don't think it is an opportunity for us to show them, because we have been showing them for so long that it is getting tiresome as far as I am concerned," says Wes Studi, who plays Joe Leaphorn, a laconic police officer. "It is an opportunity for the public to take a look at a culture that is right alongside them but very different in terms of values and life view."

Like Leaphorn, Studi left the life he knew for a more urban setting. A Cherokee who did not learn English until he went to school, Studi settled in Tulsa before moving to Los Angeles, where he was in "Last of the Mohicans," among other movies.

Leaphorn is a by-the-books kind of cop, who confers with his wife, Emma (Sheila Tousey). Hillerman fans will recall that Emma dies in the book, but Redford says they resurrected her because, "I felt the character could be a mainstay, particularly with Sheila playing her," he says. "She has strength and character and I always liked the idea of a woman who is brilliant. ... He listens to her. She has the real wisdom."

Emma is the catalyst behind Leaphorn investigating a case that is closed. She has a better grasp than her husband on how a younger officer, Jim Chee (Adam Beach, "Smoke Signals"), can jibe becoming a medicine man with being an officer.

In "Coyote Waits," another police officer is killed and, though Chee immediately finds an old man who says he did it, many questions are raised. Why would this old shaman kill a police officer? What was he doing hundreds of miles from his home? Was the slain cop finally closing in on a vandal who had been defacing rocks with paint?

Though it is supposed to be a cut-and-dried case, that would not have made for much of a mystery. Instead, additional characters are introduced, which of course widens the circle of suspects. Among them is a missing professor who had hired the shaman to help him over the years.

Ironically, the Holy Grail for the missing professor is the remains of Butch Cassidy, a legendary criminal Redford has some familiarity with, having co-starred in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" in 1969. "I am going to stay out of that one," Redford says, laughing about how these characters seem to follow him. "People have approached him for years claiming to be descendants of the outlaws."

As someone who long has told stories on film, Redford knew he did not want to merely reflect Native American life. That could be done better in a documentary, he says. Instead, his goal was to help Native Americans tell their own stories, hence his commitment to the Sundance Film Festival, which offers showcases for Native American filmmakers.

Another part of Redford's determination to get the Hillerman novels made into movies was his love of old-fashioned series. As a boy in California, Redford enjoyed going to the theater to watch the Charlie Chan movies.

"The mysteries themselves would carry these little films," he says. "They are very short, and you could make two at a time and bring them to the screen to the American audiences. It would be a fresh look with wonderful characters. And, if done right, the nation would slowly adopt these characters and learn a lot about Native American culture."

"Nobody in Hollywood was interested," he says. The reaction he kept getting was "What stars would be in it?" I had such a struggle in the late '80s and through the '90s, and everybody said give up the ghost. I went to PBS as a last stance."
